RELIGIOUS GROUPS PRESENT PROGRAM IN CHAPEL TODAY

STATE TO DEDICATE BUILDINGS
TO STUDENTS, MR. BALLARD
SAYS WEDNESDAY

To show the place and interest of religion on the College campus, the local Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A., and Newman Club combined their efforts in taking charge of the chapel program today. Special musical numbers were presented by the combined members of these three organizations who belong to the Chapel Choir. Short talks were given on the organization and activities of these groups as follows: Eileen Hiland, the Newman Club; Lillian Kankel, the Y. W. C. A.; and Charles Jahr, the Y. M. C. A. A speech concerning the building of character by James Krajeck was also scheduled.

Miss Leonard Announces Plans
Plans for Commencement and Dedication were presented in chapel last Wednesday. Miss Leonard, chairman of the Commencement Committee, summarized the plans already made for Commencement; Mr. Ballard, chairman of the Dedication Committee, gave a tentative program for Dedication of the new buildings; and Henry Booher, solicited the aid of the student body in the preparation for both of these events.

That the dedication exercises mean that the State of Minnesota is dedicating the new physical plant to the student body and to those who will be students here in the years to come was the statement of Mr. Ballard, chairman of the faculty committee on the June 6 epochal event in M. S. T. C. history.

"I have been interested in the various conceptions which many people have of this coming event", declared Mr. Ballard. "Some have thought it was to be something in the nature of a carnival; others have thought of it as something we were to dedicate to the city; some thought of it as a commercial opportunity, while still others thought of it as semi-political in nature, considering the coming campaigns.

"My idea, and I feel that most of you will agree, is rather that it is a ceremony of the state whereby it confers upon those who are students of the institution the rights and privileges of a fine educational plant." Mr. Ballard left the impression that such a ceremony would be a dignified one, fitting such an occasion.

Y.M.C.A. Members Conduct Services

Members of the Y. M. C. A. of the College conducted the morning services in the First Congregational Church of Moorhead, and the evening services in the First Baptist Church of Fargo last Sunday, April 10.

At the Congregational Church in Moorhead, the sermon was given by Gile Warren and Donald Bird on the subject "The Child from Birth Through His College Career". The scripture reading was by Wilson Dokken, and prayer was given by Cecil Veitch.

At the Baptist Church of Fargo the sermon was given by Gorman Thompson and Axel Taflin, scripture reading by Nelmer Johnson, and prayer by Charles Jahr. Jules Herman and Reynolds Christensen rendered a cornet duet, and a male quartet consisting of Oscar Thompson, Harlow Berquist, Ward Thompson, and Lawrence Peterson sang "Speed Away". Accompaniment was played by Laurence Norin.

REDUCED RATES ANNOUNCED FOR EUROPEAN TOUR

PLAN OF DEFERRED PAYMENTS ADDS TO ADVANTAGES OF SUMMER TRAVEL

Now a greater advantage is offered to get pleasure, education, culture, and experience for a little expenditure. A price of $380 to tour for 48 days through seven countries of Europe, instead of $412 as was formerly given out, was the announcement this week of Mr. Schwendeman director of the 1932 College Geography European tour and director of the successful Eastern and Western tours of the last two summers.

At the same time that he received word of rate reductions from the Cunard Steamship company, he also was authorized to announce that deferred payments may be arranged. Mr. Schwendeman also announced a special tour which will cost $125, covering transportation to and back from London, and a several day tour of the world's largest city.

Mr. Schwendeman states that arrangements are complete for the accommodation of twenty-five people on the Geography Tour. In the nature of a regular accredited course, four quarter hours of credit in Geography are accorded those who make the trip under Mr. Schwendeman's direction and afterwards write a report.

Sailing from New York on July 16 on the "Aquitania", the M. S. T. C. group will devote five days to a personally conducted sight-seeing tour of England. On July 28 will begin a three-day excursion through Paris; then on to Rome via Geneva, Venice, and Florence. The return journey will be through Lucerne, Weisbaden, and Brussels to Amsterdam; thence back to Southampton catching the "Berenegaria" for New York.

The London tour will leave New York for London, where several days full of thrills and adventure will be spent under a guide's leadership.

The deferred payment plan offered by the Cunard line allows anyone who has a contract to teach next fall the sailing and the remainder in eight months of paying one fourth before monthly payments after returning, this to include a six per cent finance charge.

Barnesville Debators Win Inter-regional

In an inter-regional debate last week, the Barnesville high school debate team, coached by Evelyn Gunderson, a Dragon debater of last year, won the right to enter the state contest. Judges of the debate were President MacLean and Mr. Loewen of the College, and President Brown of Concordia.

To stimulate interest in rural education, the seventh annual Rural School Demonstration will be held in the College and in the affiliated schools, Thursday and Friday, May 5 and 6. Russell Osmundson Killed In Accident

Pupils of the College High and all who knew him deeply regret the death of Russell Osmundson, who was killed in an automobile accident in Oregon, where the family had moved only a short time ago. Russell, at the time he left here, was a member of the College High Freshman class.

Howard, Russell's brother, who returned here with his mother, will again take up his class work with the seventh grade at the Training School.

The best way to help those in need is to get acquainted with them.

Music Director

Two organizations which will appear in this year's Arts Festival, the College Orchestra and the Chapel Choir are directed by Mr. Preston, head of the Music Department at the College.

TAFLIN IS NEW WESTERN MISTIC EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

SHERMAN WILL BE ASSOCIATE; BRIDGES, COCKING DRAW STAFF POSITIONS

Axel Taflin, Winger, a Senior next year, is to be the editor-in-chief of the MISTIC for 1932-33, it was announced today by Mr. Murray. Working with him as associate editor will be Elianor Sherman of Fergus Falls, also a Senior in '32-'33. Other important staff positions include John C. (Jack) Bridges of Moorhead a Sophomore next year, as news editor, and Alwin Cocking of Fargo, also of the class of '35, as make-up editor.

Tryouts are being held for business staffs of both the MISTIC and the Praeceptor, and it is thought that these positions will be filled by this time next week. Tryouts for editorial staff positions were conducted two weeks ago. For the Praeceptor, College annual, Clarence Glasrud was recently elected editor-in-chief.

Of those named to the staff of the newspaper, Mr. Taflin and Miss Sherman have had advanced courses in journalism and have done considerable work on M. S. T. C. publications. Mr. Bridges and Mr. Cocking have been special contributors to the paper this year, are completing the courses in news writing and editing, and come to their new positions with records of successful work on high school publications.

Weaker Voices Gain Power In Cheering School

M. S. Rah! Rah! T. C. Rah! Rah! With the opening of the Cheer-Leading School Monday evening, April 11, practice of school yells and songs was immediately begun. Students, enrolled, were forced to throw away their weaker voices and use the stronger so as to establish from the beginning the correct kind of voices in the leading of yells.

Plans for future work in the Cheer-Leading School were brought forth and discussed. Copies of yells and songs were distributed, which are to be learned for practice at the next meeting, Monday evening, April 18, in the Student Exchange.

It is not yet too late to enroll in this school, according to Thelma Erickson, who has charge of the school. She asks that everyone interested enroll at the next meeting of the group.

Leonard Debate Team Advances In Tourney

The debate team of Leonard, N. D., coached by Alvera Brown, former M. S. T. C. student debater, has but one decision to obtain before they enter the N. D. state debate semi-finals. Clarence Gludt, B. E. '31, also a former College debater here, is the high school principal at Leonard. He awarded letters recently to the Leonard basketball team, of which he is coach.

REPORTERS FIND CONVENIENCES IN MACLEAN HALL

SWIMMING POOL, STUDENT QUARTERS, SOCIAL ROOMS AT-TRACT ATTENTION

Acting upon the idea that many students may not have made the rounds of the new buildings, and that in any case the Alumni would like to know more about the new quarters, a squad of reporters was sent out on a hunt for interesting features. Thus far four have reported, and their observations, whether good or bad, are here printed.

Rumor has it that "it won't be long now" until students and faculty start what Mr. Ballard calls the hegira or flight from Weld Hall, which has been a crowded bee-hive for the last two years.

New $35,000 Pool Is Rhapsody In Color

An important feature of the Physical Education building is the swimming pool. Completed, it is a rhapsody of green and black. The perfect harmony of the room is its strongest feature. This part of the new building alone is estimated to have cost $35,000.

The walls are of pale green tile with a scroll of black, and the pool is done in green tile with a border of black. On the floor of the pool are black lines running up to the side, indicating in black numbers the depth of the water. At the north end in large black letters is printed SHALLOW and at the south end DEEP likewise is indicated.

Placed at the south end is the spring board, which is covered with straw matting so as to insure the divers against any possible accidents.

In the southwest corner are two drains, the source of the water supply. A drain in the center of the pool is the outlet for the water, which is heated from the basement by two steam boilers.

Deeper shades of green mark the tiling of the floor immediately surrounding the pool, and separated from the pool by an iron railing are three rows of bleachers, on the west side.

The pool is eight and a half feet at the deepest end and three and a half feet at its shallowest. It is sixty-five by twenty feet in size.

Completed recently, the pool is filled with water and ready for use, but because of lack of funds, will not be employed until next fall.

Student Center Complete Unit In Hall

As a student center, practically all of the west end of the first floor of MacLean Hall has been planned for the use of the students. In this part of the building are the rest rooms, the laboratories, the Student Exchange, and ample room for lockers.

Entering the main floor of MacLean Hall, one finds the first room on the left has been set aside as a rest room for the coeds. This room is large, well lighted, and well suited to the purpose. The only schoolroom-like evidence in the place is black-board. No doubt this will be used as a medium for messages to other fair students and will not detract from the value of the room by reminding the students of painful memories incurred elsewhere. A similar rest room for men is found on the opposite side of the hall.

Farther south along the hallway is the Student Exchange. Two small rooms adjoining the Exchange have been set aside as storerooms. 288 new post-office boxes have been already installed, which will make a total of 608 post-office boxes, not counting 42 larger boxes which have been set aside for the faculty.

Opposite the Student Exchange are 262 new six-foot lockers. These lockers will permit a person to hang up his coat without folding it. Together with the new lockers in the Physical Education Building and those in Weld Hall ample locker facilities will be provided for the students. The lockers which are now in Weld Hall are to be used wherever needed. Some of them no doubt will remain in Weld Hall for use of those students doing most of their work there, while others will be moved over to the Physical Education Building.

Mr. Kise and Mr. Loewen acted as judges for the Concordia-Gustavus Adolphus debate, which was held at Concordia College last Friday.

A WELL PLANNED BUILDING

Perhaps all of us wonder sometimes, just how we will act when at last we get into our new quarters in MacLean Hall. Rumor has it that inside of two weeks we will receive the reward of our long and patient waiting and will find out what it really means to have plenty of room and adequate facilities to carry on our classes and activities.

It is surprising that a really incredible number of students have not been inside of MacLean Hall while it is in the process of construction, and many more have not visited our new quarters recently or do not know how the various departments are to be distributed about that admirably planned structure. A series of articles dealing with the outstanding features of the new main building are to be found in this week's MiSTiC, and should furnish much information of interest to the majority of students who are not intimately acquainted with the building.

Besides providing up-to-date equipment and adequate quarters for all departments at the present time, provision is made for the future in providing extra space for expansion in the near future. Efficiency is the keynote in the arrangement of class rooms and offices within the various departments and of those departments in regard to each other. While all possible deference has been shown to the various instructors in the planning of their rooms, yet the whole structure forms a physical plant arranged with a superior degree of harmony between its component parts.

A RETURN TO AN OLD TRADITION

The opening of the new buildings is making it possible to return to several good old customs, suspended, by force of circumstance, for the past two years. Among these is the Arts Festival.

Not that this Festival has been entirely a lost Art since the destruction of Old Main. Every year the music department has presented two concerts; and the final lyceum number has been the climax of the event. But this year marks an expansion, and a return to tradition.

Originally, the Festival was planned to unite the arts of music, art, and drama. Lack of space and equipment has made it impossible to present all three. But in addition to several very fine concerts, this year an art exhibit and a studio tea will be given, in MacLean Hall.

As yet, the drama has not again taken its place. In former years, a pageant has been presented which included the whole physical education department, in collaboration with the dramatic department, and was sponsored by the pageantry class of the college. Is it too much to hope that a year or two hence, this tradition too will be taken up again, and a similar production added to the list of events in our Arts Festival?

THE LOCAL SITUATION

"Join the band and see the world". The M. S. T. C. band will play at Detroit Lakes soon. Seriously, our musical groups are establishing quite a reputation.

An unofficial addition to the curriculum was made when the cheer-leader's school was started last Monday. This latest course will undoubtedly prove most valuable in training cheerleaders and assistants who will be able to stimulate those tonsil-loosening yells so appropriate at Cobber games—and elsewhere.

"Two movings are as bad as a fire", but we'll risk it. Instructors and students register sheer glee at the news that MacLean Hall will be open for use by the first of May.

Along lines quite different, but of no less interest, were the services conducted last Sunday by the Y. M. C. A. of the college. If the purpose of education is to build a well-rounded character, such religious activities deserve a definite place in school life.

In the plans for commencement, the two-year graduates are not being overlooked. Committees are already working on the Sophomore Prom.

Did you ever take a look at the activities of Rural Play Day? Whether you ever expect to teach in the country or not, you're sure to get some worth-while idea out of an afternoon's observation—and we'll guarantee you'll get a kick out of it.

Yea, crimson! Yea, white! The south windows of the dormitory are again filled daily by eager admirers of the gentle art of football. Work-outs have started on the gridiron for next fall's team.

THE OPEN COLUMN

PLEASE OBSERVE RULES

Can it be a perverted sense of modesty that causes some girls to wear street shoes in a shower-room? Is it a physical disability that makes them leave their towels at home or fail to pick up used paper towels? Ridiculous, you say. Perhaps, but the result is worse than the reason as most of the shower room users will testify.

Surely the least one can do to show appreciation of the new building is to abide by the rules. No street shoes are to be worn in the shower room! All used towels should be put into the waste basket! Another reason for observing the rules has been suggested—the girls on the Archery Teams are improving their aim, and so far there is only one target available. (It's as good a method as any.)

"IT'S FINE TO FINE"

"This is a depression". I suppose no one has ever heard of that entirely original expression, but perhaps you have been through the following experience. The scene is familiar to all of us. Coming to school in the morning, we suddenly remember that the book which we have taken from the reserve library has been left at home. What to do? We cannot go back, because we have classes.

Our free period is not enough time in which to go to Fargo and come back with the book; besides there is additional street-car fare. And as the day passes, the fine mounts up to $.50—and there another half dollar is gone. It does seem that ten cents an hour is an exorbitant fine for keeping a book out for just one day. If the fine is to make us remember to bring our books back, can't our memories be spurred by a five cent sum just as well?

Far worse than the reserve book fine, is the 10 cent fine for the other books in the library. It does seem a little ludicrous to be paying a fine for a book that has not been out of the library since September, and very probably will not be taken out again that year. A 2c fine is much more in keeping with the importance of that part of the library.

I am not deploring the principle underlying the fine system, but nevertheless it is painful to pay out 50 cents just for keeping one book out overtime. I think a lower scale of fines will do just as much in acting as a spur to the students' memories, and it will be a much needed favor in this time of depression when a student's purse is not in its usual robust condition.

Prize Given For Best Answer But Try And Get It

Sailors, farmers, lecturers, travelers, bums, storekeepers, and even teachers are nouns which might be used to describe the past activities of some of the different students in school. How well does the average person know some of the past experiences of some of the school characters? For the reader to test himself, several questions are listed for him to guess—

1. Do you know who was assistant county superintendent of schools in Ottertail County?
 2. Do you know who has been in every state in the Union?
 3. Do you know a girl who was president of the Student Commission three years ago?
 4. Do you know who has on his arm a tattoo which he received when he was in Japan?
 5. Do you know a student who attended the University of Southern California?
 6. Do you know a student who has visited many of the largest universities and colleges in our country?
 7. Do you know who lived in Norway until she was eight years old?
 8. Do you know who had a free trip to Washington when he was 13 years old, traveling as a Junior Red Cross representative?
 10. Do you know where another Moorhead State Teachers College is located?
 11. Where is Concordia State Teachers College? We have heard about Concordia, we know of several state teachers colleges, but do you know there is such a place as Concordia State Teachers college?
- Answers to these questions will be found on page four of this week's MiSTiC.

William Stevenson, '31, teacher in the Junior high school at Underwood, was called to Moorhead by the death of his grandmother, Mrs. W. J. Stevenson, whose funeral was held Sunday.

Mr. Schwendeman thoroughly disagrees with Clayton Hamilton, recent college lecturer, when he says that the writing of Cyrano de Bergerac was the most important event of the year 1897. Mr. Schwendeman, it seems, was born that year hence the disagreement.

The MiSTiC is a lot like Samson who took two columns and brought down the house.

Mr. Murray recently told the Journalism class that in proof reading it is much better to scratch out thoroughly all unnecessary words or else linotype operators would become confused by the x's. That remark causes one to wonder if the person who receives all Ethel Ludwig's letters is confused by all the X's he finds in them.

Rumor has it that Bill and Obert have been doing the Prince Charming-Cinderella act with a certain M. S. T. C. Miss. But they didn't wait for her to lose her dainty slipper; they took it away from her and went galloping down the hall.

P. S.—She finally recovered her shoe.

A platitude is an epigram with a steady job.

Red—"What's wrong, Dick?"

Dick—"I'm mad—When I parked my car, the cop asked me if I had reported to work."

Mr. Kise—"Name a foreign entanglement."

Mac—"Spaghetti."

"Shakespeare was well-educated, you know," said Miss Hayes. "He went to grammar school in his youth; I know he did—I've seen the school."

These spring nights remind us that many are chilled, but few are frozen.

"Of course," said Mr. Loewen, "I appreciate typewritten themes, but I feel sure that if you had written this in long-hand, Miss Boyer, you wouldn't have spelled 'much' m-u-s-h."

The waitress brought in the sandwiches. "Where is the ham?" she asked.

"Here," said Betty, nonchalantly, looking across the table at Art Nelson.

In folk dancing class, Miss Frick was teaching the Norwegian Mountain Dance. "Form in groups of three. The girl in front is the horse, and the other two girls are drivers. Now run."

They ran. Presently Reno turned around, and said out of the corner of her mouth, "Is this what they call 'horsing around'?"

As a parting jab: No wonder the world's asleep, with so much bunk!

The Training School

The Economic Geography classes of the Training School are working upon the study of areas of the world according to climatic conditions. The classes have been divided into groups which are held responsible for class discussions on certain days. The classes also made a large wall map of the world. Commercial exhibits related to the areas in which they are produced are shown on the bottom of the map.

The eighth grade citizenship class, under the direction of Mr. Veitch and Mr. Lee, in connection with a study of Minnesota, is making a specific project of Minnesota as a state for recreational opportunities. Material for the carrying on of this project has been provided for the students by the 10,000 Lakes Association at St. Paul.

The pupils are making an imaginary trip to various parts of the state and are telling the rest of the class about the beautiful scenery which is found in the state of Minnesota. In connection with this project the class will also study the Minnesota road system and transportation regulations.

The Primary department has received a delightful gift from Mr. Frick, father of Miss Frick. The gift, a small, hammer-marked copper aquarium, has been made by Mr. Frick himself, who finds unusual delight in making things of that sort and has surely won the hearts of the little folks in presenting to them so beautiful a gift.

Heavy Slugging Features W. A. L. League Openers

To those who saw the opening games of the W. A. L. kittenball tournament, it was clearly evident that spring at last is here. In spite of the fact that some of the teams were handicapped because of the failure of certain persons to appear, the games were well played and exciting. Hoag thrilled the spectators with her daring slides to the bases.

And if you think those girls can't bat! More than one spectator held her breath as balls came dangerously near the windows. The games were played in the gymnasium, and there just wasn't room enough for some of the hard hits. Wait until they get outside and you'll see several home-runs!

Six teams are entered in the Round Robin tournament, and it was necessary to begin before they were able to get out-of-doors in order to complete the series. In the first round Hoag won from Hunter 25 to 10, and Bestick won from G. Hanson 28-18. Jeanie Gibb and Dorothy Hoag were referees.

WARM SUN SPURS SPORTS PROGRAM

FOOTBALL PRACTICE MOVED OUT OF DOORS; WORK BEGUN ON TENNIS COURTS

With the advent of warmer weather, Coach Nemzek took his spring football candidates outside last Monday and began drilling them on plays and fundamentals. The Dragon team, with several freshmen prospects filling holes left by graduates, is going at its work with a determination that gives promise of a smooth-working team to represent the college next fall.

Cheered on by balmy skies and a brilliant sun, the College tennis luminaries are making every effort to get the courts into shape and hope to get on them by this afternoon. In the meantime, regular practises have been carried on in the new gym.

Some few golfers have even ventured so far as to trek out to the local links to test their prowess in the invigorating spring breezes. They report, however, that shovels are more necessary than mashies, and rubber boots more convenient than golf shoes.

All in all, "Sliv's" spring program is getting well under way, with the college athletes all working hard to get rid of that bothersome "reserve" developed during the last six weeks of inaction.

Spring Bonnets Are Offered Cheap By Kindergarten

Many of the coeds have failed to find a suitable spring bonnet at a suitable price, but here is an opportunity for finding what they want, which they cannot overlook. Members of the Kindergarten department have established a department store in which they are having special sales on spring bonnets of various styles, and also various kinds of lamps. The storekeepers undoubtedly will do their utmost in attempting to please all who patronize their business.

And to continue with the interpretation of the new football rules.

If a tackler leaves the ground when he flies at an opponent he must immediately change his mind and take the count of 10, and then he may proceed with the process of tackling provided the runner has not left the field for his hot dogs and coffee.

"Sliv" says that indelible letters reading "No Trespassing" will be stamped on the necks of his linemen.

And he will instruct his ends not to shave so that they can stick their whiskers right smack in an opponent's ear or eye, and the offended one can't do a thing about it.
