INVESTIGATION BY INSTRUCTOR UNEARTHES HOAX

TICKET SCALPERS ALREADY IN THE FIELD WITH THEIR FAKE OFFERS

That ticket scalpers are already busy in connection with the Century of Progress Exposition or "World's Fair" to be held next year in Chicago is the revelation of Mr. Schwendeman following receipt of a letter from E. Ross Bartley of Chicago, director of promotion for the event.

Because he plans a tour next summer to the Exposition, the College Geography instructor became interested on being approached by persons who claimed to have bought general admission tickets for $3.50. The later price according to the salesman was to be $5.00, so these people said. The letter, which is printed here, shows clearly that the admission prices, though not definitely set at this time, will probably not exceed fifty cents for single admissions.

Mr. Schwendeman's action in obtaining this information and in making it public constitutes a real service to other communities. It is suggested that College people pass the word around to all their friends as to the hoax that is being perpetrated by these imposters. The complete letter follows:

Chicago, June 23, 1932.

Mr. J. R. Schwendeman,
Dept. of Geography,
State Teachers College,
Moorhead, Minnesota.

My Dear Mr. Schwendeman:

Your letter of May 21, addressed to the World's Fair Commission, has been referred to this department of A Century of Progress—International Exposition Chicago 1933.

We are very glad to know that you have plans for organizing a group of students to visit the Exposition in 1933. It will be an extremely interesting experience for college students, having as it does for its theme the relation of science to industry in the progress of the last hundred years.

Under separate cover we are sending you some literature regarding the Exposition. We are also adding your name to the list to receive our weekly publication, "Progress."

Definite decision has not yet been reached as to the admission price, but it probably will be fifty cents for single admissions. The matter of group admissions has not been worked out but will be within the next few months. I would suggest that you address an inquiry in September to Mr. M. M. Tveit, Comptroller of A Century of Progress.

Assuring you of our appreciation of your interest in the 1933 Exposition,
Sincerely yours,

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS,
By: E. Ross Bartley,
Director, Dept. of Promotion.

A graduate of the Moorhead State Teachers College in 1922, and a member of the Gamma Nu sorority, Miss Thekla Carstens, 30, died Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Carstens, 1021 Fourth avenue south, Fargo. She had been ill about two weeks.

Miss Carstens was music instructor in Jefferson Junior high school, Fargo.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two brothers, Max and Richard and three sisters, Hulda, Paula and Irma, all of Fargo.

While a student at the College, Miss Carstens was very active in campus activities, particularly in the Chapel Choir and in the Arion club, former music society.

ALL-COLLEGE PICNIC

The All-College summer term picnic, which has become a traditional event at M. S. T. C., is to be held July 12. The details of the picnic have not as yet been arranged, but the committee in charge met in Miss Lumley's office Wednesday afternoon to lay plans for it.

AMPHION CHORUS RECEIVES OVATION MONDAY EVENING

PACKED HOUSE HEARS CHORUS PRESENT PROGRAM; OPEN HOUSE HELD

One hundred strong, the Amphion Chorus presented a well-received concert in Weld Hall Monday evening, June 27. Under the direction of Daniel Preston, and assisted by Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Kise, Walter Wright, and Conard Euren, soloists, this gigantic Fargo and Moorhead men's organization rendered a performance well worth recognition.

Opening the program, the chorus sang Nottingham Hunt by Bullard, following with Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes by Vogrich. At this point Walter Wright, baritone, sang Danny Dever, by Damrosch; he was aided by the choir. The group ended the first part of the evening with the rendition of The Lost Chord, by Sullivan. The latter song was so enthusiastically received that it was sung a second time.

Mrs. Ruth Preston presented a group of violin solos, namely: Serenade Espagnol, Chaminade; and Melodie-Randegger, Kreisler. The encore was Fracquita by Lehar-Kreisler. Mrs. Preston was accompanied by Lawrence Noren.

The second part presented by the chorus consisted of Da Vittoria's Ave Maria, O Holy Father by Palestrina, and Laudamus, by Protheroe, who was guest instructor at the College in the summers of 1929 and 1930. Mrs. Agnes Kise rendered a group of contralto solos. Her numbers were: Nebbie (Mists) by Respighi, Sibella's La Girrometta, and Rest, by Sanderson. Her

SPORTS PROGRAM HOLDS INTEREST

RIVALRY IS KEEN IN QUITS, VOLLEY BALL, KITTENBALL, AND SWIMMING

The second round of play in the Campus Kittenball League found Cook's team in the lead after handing Peterson's team a neat 17-15 trimming Tuesday. This was the second win for the leaders in as many games. Gibb turned in a close victory over Dyer to share second place honors with Peterson in the race. Dyer's team is sharing the cellar position by virtue of their inability to get into the win column. Next Tuesday evening Cook meets Dyer, while in the second game Peterson opposes Gibb.

The horseshoe tossers have been steadily engaged in eliminating the various teams in their round robin affair. Championship in this division of the summer school sports is to be determined today. The play thus far has been nip and tuck, favorites coming through in the form expected of them.

Volleyball captains were chosen last Wednesday at a meeting of those interested in that particular sport. The group has been divided into four sections, each group headed by a captain. Captains chosen were: Lee, Ingberg, Meyers, and Stark. Play will get under way this week, the teams to play a round robin schedule similar to that of the kittenball tournament.

Members of the beginning swimming classes received their fourth lesson this week. More members have joined the ranks of the men's division. At present the advanced groups have been busily engaged in learning the art of diving. With both groups progressing rapidly, all eyes are being turned toward the coming water carnival, in which the various members of all the groups will have ample opportunity to demonstrate their swimming ability.

STATE SOCIETY WILL ARRIVE ON CAMPUS JULY 15

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY INCLUDES M. S. T. C. IN PLAN FOR STATE TOUR

Announcement has been made of the Eleventh Annual Tour and Summer Convention of the Minnesota Historical Society, and, as a feature of the three-day program, Moorhead State Teachers College will be host to the group on the morning of July 15, according to a letter recently received by President MacLean from the organization. Dr. Theodore C. Blegen, secretary and superintendent of the society, will speak at a morning assembly.

1932 marks the one-hundredth anniversary of Henry R. Schoolcraft's discovery of Lake Itasca, and in memory of this historic achievement, a 40-hour stop will be made at one of Minnesota's most beautiful spots, Itasca State Park.

Luncheon Planned

The program for July 14 opens with a motor tour to Alexandria over the modern concrete adaption of the Old Military Road to Fort Abercrombie, along which the Burbank stages of the early fifties ploughed deep in mud.

Following a subscription luncheon, addresses and special courtesies extended by the Alexandria committee, the tour will be resumed, with Fergus Falls as the goal. Dinner and an evening session featured by an illustrated talk by Dr. Blegen will conclude the first day's events.

The travelers will leave Fergus Falls Friday morning, July 15, bound for Moorhead. Dr. Blegen will address the assembly at chapel exercises in the auditorium of Weld Hall at 10 a. m. A late morning session, at which time faculty members, students and friends of the society are invited to attend, will be followed by a subscription luncheon in the dining room of Comstock Hall.

Itasca Pageant Will Be Repeated

Immediately following the luncheon, the group will leave for Itasca State Park. The Itasca pageant will be repeated as a special feature of the convention program. Dr. Louise Phelps Kellogg of the Wisconsin Historical Society, and Julius Schmahl, state treasurer of Minnesota, have been named special speakers for the 1932 convention.

NEW PICTURES ADORN JOURNALISM OFFICES

Appropriately adorning the wall of the journalism laboratory is a portrait of Walter Williams, dean of American journalists, founder of the world's first school of journalism, and former president of the World Press Congress. It was presented to the College the last week in May by Mr. Williams, now president of the University of Missouri, having come to that office from a quarter of a century of service as dean of the Missouri School of Journalism.

The Western MISTIC wishes to express appreciation also to the Buckbee Mears Company of St. Paul, engravers for the 1932 Praeceptor, for two framed etchings and a number of biographed pictures, all of which have been hung on the walls of the publications offices.

Lambda Phi Members Hold Frolic At Lake

A party of thirty-four people, including members of the Lambda Phi Sigma fraternity and honorary faculty members, motored to Detroit Lakes on the afternoon of June 29 for the annual summer term picnic. The group left from the steps of Weld Hall at three o'clock and arrived at the lake in time for the refreshment committee, headed by Clara Undseth, to spread a delightful supper.

The principal forms of diversion were rowing, swimming and kittenball. Upon arrival at Detroit Lakes the party was augmented by members from nearby towns who are not at present enrolled at the College. The faculty members represented were Mr. Preston, Miss Lommen and Dr. Archer.

COLLEGE ENROLLMENT FOUR HUNDRED FORTY

Exceeding last summer's session by a total of seventy eight, this summer term reached a final enrollment of four hundred forty students at work in the College. This total not only exceeds last summer's session but also exceeds previous summer sessions.

NO SCHOOL MONDAY

According to an announcement by President MacLean, there will be no school on Monday, July 4. The College will close at 12 o'clock on Friday, July 1. Classes will be resumed on Tuesday, July 5.

COMING CHAPELS FEATURE RABBI, STATE HISTORIAN

HARRINGTON BEARD EXHIBITS ART FROM GALLERIES TO STUDENTS

In the near future the College will be favored by visits of two very interesting personages who will give talks. On Tuesday, July 12, Rabbi Fram of the Jewish Chautauqua will give a lecture on "The Essence of the Talmud". Theodore Blegen, superintendent of the Minnesota Historical Society, will appear on the chapel program on Friday, July 15. There will probably be no chapel on Thursday, July 14.

Plans are not complete for the program of July 5, but it will probably feature some of the following; Rev. W. C. Sainsbury of Fargo, Mr. Preston, Mrs. Locke, and Eleanor Nesheim Anderson.

"Of one thousand people, only one hundred stop to think, and of this hundred only one sees," asserted Mr. Harrington Beard of the Beard Art Galleries of Minneapolis in his speech given at chapel on Tuesday. Among other things he said, "There is a universal hunger for knowledge, to be good and for beauty." Mr. Beard, who has devoted the major part of his life to the collecting and distributing of works of art, lectured briefly and sincerely on the need of art in the home and in the school.

To supplement his talk he displayed facsimiles of notable works of art dating from the time of Michael Angelo to the present, represented by works of Rockwell Kent. Thursday's chapel program was devoted to a talk given by H. A. Beltz, Jr., a representative of the Junior Red Cross of Minnesota.

LANDSCAPING TO BE STARTED SOON

INITIAL PROJECT CALLS FOR PAVING, SIDEWALKS, AND CURBINGS

That the public will see the landscaping project of the College campus completed this fall is not certain, according to the latest word received from state officials. Plans have been drawn up and are now being checked over, however, and it is expected bids will be called for in the very near future. The first part of the project to be carried out is the construction of the paving, sidewalks, and curbs, leaving the grading to be done later. Planting of the trees and shrubs will probably not take place until next spring, however, although seeding of the campus is expected to be done this fall.

The superintendent of parks in St. Paul, a Mr. Nason, is associated with the firm of Morrell and Nichols of Minneapolis, landscape architects, who planned the improvements.

NEMZEK RETURNS FROM VISIT TO WISCONSIN

Alex J. (Sliv) Nemzek, prominent Dragon athletic mentor, and family returned to Moorhead the first part of this week after a two weeks vacation in and around Black River Falls, Wisconsin. Sliv reported that the fishing was fairly good, trout fishing being his main interest.

While in Wisconsin he visited the University of Wisconsin at Madison for the purpose of studying its athletic plant. He did likewise at Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois, located only a short distance from Chicago.

Ralph Smith, B. E. '30, who is principal of the junior high school at New York Mills, and Clarence Gludt, B. E. '31, superintendent at Leonard, N. D., are studying at the University of Southern California this summer.

COMPANY F WILL DEPART JULY 9 FOR ENCAMPMENT

CAMP RIPLEY WILL BE SCENE OF NATIONAL GUARD ACTIVITIES

A special feature of the annual encampment of the Minnesota National Guard this year will be a Brigade encampment including both the 205th and 206th infantries. Company F of Moorhead is a unit of the latter regiment. The plan inaugurated this year will in all probability be a step toward a divisional encampment. The dates of this year's encampment have been set as July 9 to July 24. Members of the local unit will entrain for camp Friday evening, July 8.

Camp Ripley, located at Little Falls, the home of Colonel Lindbergh, is a short distance north of the city. The camp, recently constructed, is one of the most complete of its kind in the entire Northwest. With the additional feature of having two regiments together in one encampment, this year's camp has all the earmarks of being the finest ever assembled.

Under Direction of Nemzek

The local unit of the Minnesota National Guard, Company F, is under the command of Alex J. Nemzek, Athletic Director of the College. Commissioned officers of the company include First Lieutenant Esser and Second Lieutenant Gates. The complete roster of the company includes the maximum number, 66. Upon arrival at Little Falls, the company will be transferred to the Camp. Saturday evening, July 9, the various members of the company are to take part in a 24-hour guard service. Last year Chester Gilpin, former student of the College, acted as Sergeant of the Guard, and probably will assume the same duties again this year.

Each year a special attraction of the encampment, a regimental track and field meet, is held. Since many members of the company are former track stars of the College, Company F should make a very creditable showing. In former years the athletic standards of the company has excelled that of many of the companies present. In addition to this, boxing matches attracts a goodly share of the interest. Again this year, First Sergeant Albert Zech will defend his welterweight title against other boxing enthusiasts.

Shooting Again Scheduled

Competition for the various regimental and private trophies in both Rifle and Pistol marksmanship is scheduled for the second week of camp. In the past Company F has made a very creditable showing in the Regimental competition. Full dress reviews are held each evening at the close of the days activities. With two regiments taking part in this daily performance, those who may have the chance will be witnessing some of the finest demonstrations that have been attempted outside the regular army training camps.

Last Tuesday evening at the last drill of the fiscal military year, and a general get-together preliminary to going to camp, the members of company had a supper in the Armory club-rooms. At this meeting Captain Nemzek gave out information concerning camp, outlining in main the policies and attitudes that a soldier takes when engaged in military maneuvers, such as the individuals of the company are about to take part in.

UNIVERSITY VS. TEACHERS COLLEGES

A certain amount of agitation has been going on among educators and others as to the relative merits of a teachers college and a university in the preparation of teachers. From a superficial glance at the subject one is led to believe that the university, which in public opinion, at least, ranks higher than the teachers colleges, is as a result capable of turning out better teachers.

Pursuing the subject a little farther, one finds that as a general rule the opposite is true. This is not due to any radical weakness on the part of the university but rather because it fails to specialize in the instruction of the art of teaching. The teachers college, on the other hand, bends every effort to turn out teachers of quality and ability. The teachers college is logically the place to secure the needful as regards the profession of teaching. No school, barring none, is as capable of educating teachers as is a teachers college.

Often an individual finds himself or herself in a dilemma as to whether or not one should choose a university instead of a teachers college. If you must make this decision either this fall or later on, do not be misled by the general idea that the university is a superior institution. In some respects it is, but not in the field of teaching. Choose a teachers college. After you have decided to attend a teachers college it is natural that you want to attend the best. Why not decide immediately on the Moorhead State Teachers College?

IS EDUCATION A RACKET?

In a recent article published in the Fargo Forum were quoted some statements by a state senator from Leonard, North Dakota, flaying the educators of the state for their opposition to the initiated measure for the reduction of the assessed tax valuation of property from 75 per cent to 50 per cent. He intimated that the stand of the educators was motivated, not by professional or philanthropic concern, but rather by a pecuniary defense for "their own pocketbook". He also expressed grave concern over the fact that the amount expended annually for the purpose of education had increased (exorbitantly, to him) in the last decade.

It is hoped that the people of North Dakota do not share the delusion of the august senator. It is certainly to be deplored that the great educational system of North Dakota has degenerated to a base form of "racketeering". Does the senator feel that he is being imposed upon when he sends his children to a public school to be trained under competent, highly trained, upright and professionally minded teachers in the common fundamentals and the art of becoming good citizens of the state of which he is a servant? To intimate that the teachers who made it possible for the senator to rise above the level of the savage did so with no feeling or concern for him but for the personal interest in the pocketbook is certainly a case of "biting the hand that feeds you". Another "Dark Age" would be inevitable should this attitude to educators become rampant.

The senator also notes with terror in his heart that education is making rapid strides in his state. He forgets that money used for education is an investment rather than an expenditure and that it means a corresponding rise in efficiency of the public school system. There is nothing alarming about the fact that North Dakota has risen from an insignificant place to a commendable position in the ranking of the states of the Union in educational standards and efficiency during the last few years. A public-spirited citizen would feel a certain sense of pride upon considering this fact. However, if the status would fall five or six places as a result of one quick sweep of unwise legislation not paralleled in the other states, there would be good reason for alarm and indignant protest. The progress of a state in other endeavors and the progress in educational affairs seem to go hand in hand.

The educators of North Dakota will undoubtedly condone the senator for his unwise and unethical utterances. If he did not occasionally err in action, thought and judgment, he could not be classified as a human, but rather as a divine being.

THE OPEN COLUMN

CARRIED TOO FAR

Among a large number of students and others with whom the writer has talked, there seems to be a growing agreement that the policy of naming things around here has gone too far to make things worth naming. To name this excellent administration building after President MacLean is a great compliment and is altogether fitting and proper. But to attach to a perfectly good social room a cognomen such as "Ingleside" is beyond the writer's comprehension.

Believe it or not, there are reasons for this objection. After all, what does the name "Ingleside" signify? This paper goes to many persons outside the school to whom the name means absolutely nothing. Ingleside—it sounds suspiciously like a cottage on Detroit Lakes! Suppose the administration should decide to begin a name-attaching campaign—the large gymnasium would decidedly be a superior place for basketball games were it named "Sunnyside". Our fine new swimming pool would publicly bask in the nickname "Tumble-Inn". Or, the auditorium might be lifted above the ordinary run of assembly halls with the title of "Ye Olde Theatre".

We will all agree that our Social Room is a beautiful place, and naturally all are duly grateful to the powers that be for providing for the College use such a room in which to hold teas and the like, but for the sake of the dignity of the room, and to protect it from snickers of outsiders, let it be known in the future, and for all time, as the College Social Room.

Kampus Kapers

Recently Sidney Kurtz had an interesting discussion with certain individuals in school concerning marriage. When told that two could live more cheaply than one, Kurtz quoth, "Well, if two can live more cheaply than one, since I don't have anything now, I might make money by getting married."

The Journalism class had a naming bee Wednesday for Mr. Murray's latest. Just where the name Sidney got in is more than we can see, but Kurtz says he thinks it is a good name. Our suggestion is Patrick Hjalmer Abraham Beniamino Murray. Sorta League of Nations name, you see.

Now that Mr. Schwendeman has ordered maps at the bookstore for his Geography of Minnesota Class, the members will cease the disappointing twice-a-day visit to the exchange, according to Hank Boher.

The old Picnic gag is still being pulled on people with cars around this school. The Lambda Phi Sigma was trying to get Mr. Weltzin to take his car to Detroit Lakes for the outing, and seemed to be more anxious to get the Chevrolet than H. W., according to the Campus Snooper.

Miss Frick asked Naomi Hall what her handle was. Miss Hall, not being familiar with such quaint vernacular, looked helplessly at Jane Norris, and, of course, the worldly-wise Jane enlightened the instructor. Miss Frick gave Naomi a withering glance and asked her if she always had Jane along as interpreter.

As Professor Beard took his leave yesterday, his farewell to Miss McCarten was, "Goodby, Irish Lady". And hers to him was, "Goodby, Englishman".

Library Notes

The 1931 Pulitzer prizes have been announced. "Of Thee, I Sing" with its catchy tunes and unbridled satire of national politics, is the first musical comedy ever to win the Pulitzer prize for original American play for the year. The $1,000 prize was given to the authors, George S. Kaufman who wrote the book, and Ira Gershwin, who wrote the lyrics.

"The Good Earth" by Mrs. Pearl S. Buck won the $1,000 for the best novel written by an American. Mrs. Buck's book has been a best seller for months, its popularity increasing after Will Rogers devoted one of his daily paragraphs to it after his return from the Orient. General John J. Pershing's "My Experience in the World War" won him the $2,000 prize for the best book of the year on the history of the United States.

"Theodore Roosevelt" by Henry F. Pringle won the $1,000 award for best American biography teaching patriotic and unselfish service to the people.

Questioning Reveals Reactions of Noted Geographers To Last Week's Journey

Twenty-eight hardy geographers returned late Sunday eve from a trip through Northern Minnesota, one with blisters, one with a sore back, and one much heavier; but all with a feeling that the trip was well worth while, indeed. Upon being questioned, "What feature of your trip did you enjoy the most?" the following replies were received by a MiSTiC reporter:

Mr. Schwendeman: "Unquestionably this was the finest trip I have ever made and the finest group I have ever been with. However, I always say this sort of thing, so don't take it too seriously!"

Mrs. Christensen: "I thought that the bridge games in the bus on Sunday afternoon were very enjoyable. My partner and I won, of course!"

M. Wokasch: "I enjoyed the meals immensely. I thought that the red and white pines at Itasca Park were sure high. They would make an awful lot of fork handles."

L. Botts: "I was uplifted and inspired by the refreshing rural scenery. I am certain it will make me a better woman."

A. Braate: "I was thrilled by the sight of the headwaters of the Mississippi in Itasca State Park. I threw a twig in the water. I wonder how long it will be before it gets to the Gulf of Mexico, about two and one-half thousand miles away."

L. Shaw: "The model of Paul Bunyan's blue ox in the museum at Itasca State Park was most vital to me. I used to think that Paul Bunyan and his blue ox were imaginary characters; now, I know differently. My faith in books is restored."

M. Walz: "I liked the Viking ship we saw on a beach near Duluth. Sailors are so romantic."

A. Sather: "Coming back from Duluth we hit a bump. Alice Roesch fell right into my arms. I am going on this trip next summer too."

I. Cook: "The climb to the top of the range tower was a high moment for me. We went up 100 feet."

S. Kurtz: "I was never so happy as when carrying suitcases, hanging up coats, etc. I was somewhat disappointed though. I only smashed one grip. I didn't get any tips, either."

"Christy": "This trip will stand out as perhaps the most important event of my life, for it was on this journey that Schwendeman and I decided to write a book entitled, 'Successful Suicides' or 'Was that the Human Thing to Do?' Our first chapter will be devoted to going over Niagara Falls in a bathtub. We expect the royalties to be tremendous. (Hey, who threw that tomato?)"

A. Renner: "Really, you know I talked so much, I just couldn't concentrate on any one thing. I do think though that the driver had the cutest ears!"

Jerry, the driver: "Nuts!"

Well, all in all, there seems to be no other conclusion than the one presented by Margaret Clark. "We met the right people, ate the proper food, and did the proper things." From a reportorial viewpoint it would seem advisable to enroll immediately for the next Northern Minnesota tour. (No money is received for this advertisement.)

WITCIK-KRAJECK WEDDING RECENTLY ANNOUNCED

Word has just been received at the College announcing the marriage of Miss Lillian Witcik and James Krajeck, which took place August 19, 1930.
