BASKETBALL NOW HOLDS ATTENTION OF NEMZEK MEN

FOURTEEN GAMES TO BE PLAYED;
THREE SCHEDULED WITH CONCORDIA

(By Ed Eastman)

The Dragon football schedule having been completed, the gridgers have laid aside their moleskins and are resting up preparatory to embarking on a strenuous basketball program. The first game is tentatively scheduled for December 10, with the North Dakota Agricultural college as the opposition.

Practice for the next few weeks will be in preparation for an inter-class tournament to be played probably during the week of December 4. This tournament will allow Coach Nemzek and his assistant, Chet Gilpin, a chance to size up the Freshmen material and also to watch the performances of the returning veterans.

Coach Nemzek announced that, in an effort to economize, only fourteen games for the first string would be

DRAGON CAGE SCHEDULE (tentative)

- Moorhead at N. D. A. C., Dec. 10
- Aberdeen Teachers here, Dec. 13
- LaCrosse Teachers here, Dec. 17
- Bemidji Teachers here, Jan. 14
- Duluth Teachers here, Jan. 21
- Mankato Teachers here, Jan. 28
- Bemidji Teachers there, Feb. 11
- Duluth Teachers there, Feb. 18
- St. Thomas, here, Feb. 22
- St. Cloud, there, Feb. 25

played this year, with the possible exception that a practice game or two may be scheduled. It is likely that a number of games will be scheduled for the Fire-eaters, a name that has been suggested for the second team.

This year the Dragons will meet the Concordia Cobbers three times, with no dates as yet definitely arranged. It is not known exactly when the game listed for New Year's Day will be played, as New Year's Day falls on Sunday, and it is doubtful if it will be permissible to play then. Last year the Dragons and Cobbers met five times, the Dragons emerging victorious in three struggles.

Besides the incoming Freshmen, there will be a large number of veterans who will be available. Bill and Buzz Robinson, Herb Moberg, Cliff Rasmussen, and Hank Booher all took part in a large share of last year's games and these lettermen will probably be called upon to carry the brunt of this season's schedule.

Though the football season cannot be called a great success, nevertheless the Dragons, with Mankato and St. Cloud, have secured a share of the first Northern Teachers College Conference championship. The Dragons registered victories over Winona and Bemidji and lost to Duluth in league tilts.

In non-league matches, the Dragons did not fare so well. But it must be remembered that in two cases, the A. C. and North Dakota "U", the gridgers were facing powerful and superior teams in games that highly damaged the Dragons' chances against teams of their own calibre. Injuries in these games were responsible for a large number of cripples who were forced to remain inactive for the balance of the year.

FAMOUS VIOLINIST TO APPEAR SOON

SAMUEL THAVIU COMES AS SECOND NUMBER OF LYCEUM COURSE

Samuel Thaviu, violinist, will give the second number of the College lyceum course on Thursday, December 1. Mr. Thaviu was born in Chicago in 1910 and is the son of A. F. Thaviu, famous bandmaster. He studied music at an early age from his father, choosing the violin as his instrument and setting out early to make his mark in the musical world. His training has been exclusively American under some of the leading violin instructors. He won Julliard Foundation scholarships for three years.

He made his debut as a soloist with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra in 1925, at which time he won instant recognition as a violinist of unusual ability. Following this appearance he resumed his studies, in addition to which he accepted numerous concert engagements. In 1927 he entered the Lyon and Healy competition, winning the prize.

As a fitting climax to his many previous successes, Mr. Thaviu won the National Federation of Music Clubs Contest held at San Francisco, California, on June 22, 1931, competing against young artists from every section of the country, the judging in the contest being supervised by Walter Damrosch, famous conductor and musician.

Book Week Will Be Observed By Campus Shortly

(By Clara Undseth)

Delightfully new books will be on exhibit in several places about the Campus November 13 to 17, which is Book Week. An established custom Book Week, will repeat its appeal to adults and children through displays of new books and interesting old ones.

Among the new books will be found more from foreign lands, through which a continued effort will be made to understand these peoples and help to carry on world friendship.

Last year the exhibit of children's books was upstairs in Weld Hall in Miss Bieri's old room in the Education department. The children in the grades made a trip from the cottages to view the new books. This year, the grades and High School occupy new quarters with space to display their own books.

The main rooms in the intermediate department have round library tables at which the children spend more of their time at recreational reading. The High School and Junior High School have a spacious library room on second floor. An added feature of this room is the group of windows on the south that will soon overlook a beautiful campus and give added atmosphere to the library.

President MacLean is contributing to the library, "The Business Week"—a journal of business news and interpretation, published by the McGean-Hill Company. Mr. MacLean has also given two books to the library, Max Eastman—"Enjoyment of Poetry" and Edward A. Ross—"Sin and Society". Analysis with a letter from Theodore Roosevelt.

Alumni Marvel at Wonders of M.S.T.C. During Busy Homecoming Activities

(By Denia Paine)

Another Homecoming has passed into history. And such a Homecoming! Somewhere, sometime (this is not a song) there may have been a bigger one, but nowhere and at no time could there have been a better one.

From the time the little red and white pennants began waving a merry welcome to the returning "alum" until the last goodbye was said, the spirit which has made M. S. T. C. famous pervaded everywhere. Old grads who came to talk of their Alma Mater's former glories remained to marvel at her present beauties. More than one toast, over a cup of coffee, was drunk to her future and pledges of loyalty

GEORGE ELIAS TO SPEAK IN CHAPEL NEXT WEDNESDAY

"TRUE ESSENTIALS OF LEADERSHIP" THEME OF SCHOITZ TALK THIS WEEK

George Elias, a shepherd of the East, a man born in Mesopotamia and brought up a shepherd, will speak in Chapel Wednesday, November 16. He is known as a soldier of fortune and a lecturer.

"What are the true essentials of leadership?" was the question answered by Reverend Frederick Schoitz of Trinity Lutheran Church of Moorhead. Reverend Schoitz, quoting from J. T. Adams, stated six essentials of good leadership. First, the leader must have a definite idea in mind as did Lincoln who set out to and did preserve the Union. Likewise he must make his ideas known as did Theodore Roosevelt and Wilson in their presidential work.

The leader must have confidence. Not only confidence that issues from success, but confidence in his belief of the rightfulness of his life. Third he must have courage to do what is right, as did Wilson, who went against the wishes of Wall street in regard to Mexico. Wilson said that the opinion of historians is worth more than what the people say at the time. William Jennings Bryan had courage to resign as secretary of state because he didn't believe in war. With courage he must have will-power to stick to it, as defined by Roosevelt.

Fifth the leader must have idealism, for, said Rev. Schoitz, "Morality is always recognized whether good or bad, and if one has faith in God his purposes are always right." Lastly he must have personality, personality resulting from the inner man and therefore dependent on the former. In closing the speaker asked two questions. Is it true that we haven't a national leader today; and to help our leaders is it not true that we must have the same essentials as do the leaders?

Last Week's Chapel

Dr. Yong Park spoke Wednesday on He stressed the point that the trouble between Japan and China is our problem, because China is as close to us as any other state in our nation is to us. He gave the two points which he considered were the two real causes of the trouble: first, the weakness and the failure of China to pull herself together; and second, the desire of Japan to occupy Manchuria.

POLITICAL RALLY ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD TO GYM

MAJOR POLITICAL PARTIES ARE SUPPORTED BY VARIOUS STUDENT ORATORS

Probably the most significant and timely activity of the year took place in the gymnasium on Monday at 8:00 p. m. in the form of a political rally sponsored by the International Relations Club. The decorations of the hall centered around a large poster depicting the mileposts of American political history, which was hung over the platform. This was supplemented by signs denoting the section of each party. The campaign speeches and the enthusiastic support of a thousand spectators, together with the special features contributed by the Moorhead American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps and the College Band, lent to the affair an atmosphere of a real-life Convention.

State Race Discussed

Speeches were given for the two gubernatorial and the three presidential candidates. With Clarence Glasrud presiding, the meeting opened with a speech by Alice Nelson, supporting the Republican candidate for governor, Earle Brown. She stressed the point of Mr. Brown's ability being the proof of his fitness for the office.

Between speeches, the Band played a short selection, while the various sections cheered, the meeting returning to order at the signal from the chairman.

Governor Floyd B. Olson, candidate for reelection on the Farmer-Labor ticket, was upheld by Rhoda Salverson. Her plea was made not only for the reelection of the present governor, but also for the election of legislators who would give him the necessary support in his measures.

Thompson Defends Hoover

By showing the accomplishments of the present administration and stressing the importance of carrying through the plans which are now under way intended to bring about economic recovery, Gorman Thompson, in his support of President Hoover, candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket, argued that it would be disastrous to make a change in our federal government at this critical time.

Speaking for the Democratic candidate, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Donald Bird maintained that revision downward of the tariff would be instrumental in aiding the recovery of our country from the present business depression. He stated that complete government ownership, as advocated by the Socialists, and uncontrolled private ownership, the Republican policy, are alike impracticable in our country, a compromise between the two being the wisest plan.

Thomas Presented

"Socialism stands for production for use, not for profit; workers independent political action; worker's industrial organization; and no more war", was the statement made by Lyman Bringgold in his support of the Socialist candidate, Norman Thomas. That a country that had learned to produce now needed to learn to distribute was another of his comments. According to Mr. Bringgold, capitalism rules our country; our wars are capitalist wars, and by abolishing the profit of war, we will abolish war. Last was the comical appearance of Andy Gump, played by Frank Nemzek, B. E. '28.

The rally, held for the purpose of creating enthusiasm for the general election, and to give the student body a few of the facts concerning the candidates, the parties, and the platforms, was concluded by the announcing of a College straw vote to be held on Election Day. The result of this straw vote, as reported Tuesday evening, are as follows: for governor, Earl Brown—139; Gov. Olson—250. For President, Norman Thomas—106; Franklin D. Roosevelt—97; and President Hoover—193.

Religious Groups to Present Program

Next Friday the Newman Club, the Y. W. C. A., and the Y. M. C. A. will offer to the student body a program slightly different than those which the Student Commission have scheduled so far. One of its attractive features is an address by Gorman Thompson. There will also be special musical numbers selected by the groups.

ARMISTICE DAY

Fifteen years ago the worst conflagration the world has ever known ended. Since then all thinking people have thought, talked, and campaigned for a world without the great tragedy of war.

So far the campaign for permanent friendly world relations has been carried on mainly by the generation who lived through the World War as adults and knew what agony war caused. We, the younger generation, face the problems left by that war. We face the job of setting those problems. We face the task of taking over the campaign of educating the people to the concept of continued peace by studying the organs by which this peace is secured, namely, The League of Nations, The World Court, and The Hague Court of Arbitration. Then by educating the people up to the tangible means of progress we shall have begun our work of participating in our country's and the world's progress.

OUR RANK IN EDUCATION

In a recent speech made by a prominent educational leader some very interesting facts were brought to light about the rank of Minnesota as compared with the other states. Minnesota ranks twenty-second in amount paid to teachers, seventeenth in number of days attended by pupils, twenty-fourth in holding power, that is in length of attendance in years, twelfth in literacy.

These figures will no doubt come as a rude shock to a great many people who are pleased to think of Minnesota as a leader in the educational field. The remark is quite often made that she ranks very near the top, while on the contrary statistics show her to be well down the line, halfway down in one instance.

What generalizations can be gathered from this? Is our educational system antiquated? Has the work of our leaders in trying to raise the standards been useless? Have we made no progress at all?

Lest we pass judgement too hastily it will be well to consider the fact that Minnesota is not the only state trying to put education on a higher plane. All the other states are engaged in the same endeavor. That progress has been made there can be no doubt. It is only necessary to look back a few years to be convinced of this fact. But speaking comparatively our progress has not been especially striking.

Looking at the situation from another angle it is probably fortunate that we do not rank as near the top as we quite often imagine. As it is our position in regard to the other states should tend to spur us on to increased efforts in order that Minnesota in the near future may be reckoned among the leaders in education.

From The Editor's Semicircle

And now the 1932 Homecoming has passed into history.

Another thing that has passed into history is the presidential election and, relying upon the campaign promises, all the American people need do now is to sit idly back, twiddle their thumbs, and wait for prosperity.

Any lingering suspicion that there may have been about College students not being interested in politics must surely have been dispelled at the political rally held Monday evening. Besides being entertaining and educational, the event was also a good advertising feature.

One of the most interesting phases of the Homecoming banquet was the keynote or the prosperity platform. This is in keeping with the spirit of education in general—looking forward, not backward.

THE OPEN COLUMN

A SUITCASE TEACHER

There is probably no one thing that irritates a school board more than a suitcase teacher. She arrives with a time-table and a suitcase on Monday morning, studies the time-tables or bus schedules for a week-end here or there on every Friday evening. At least, this is the reputation she earns.

She places herself in a position where she will be criticized early in the term. She loses the cooperation of the parents, for they expect full time service. no matter how well her work is planned.

They are flattered by a little attention. In rural communities they are very much hurt if a teacher refuses an invitation. A teacher cannot afford to lose that good opinion, for the parents' attitude is the attitude of the students.

On the other hand, I do not believe all work and no play is good for a teacher any more than it is for a person doing any other kind of work, but I do not believe a teacher can do her best who goes visiting every week-end.

There are plans to be made for the week, records to be kept, and other odds and ends, which have been left undone, to be completed.

Some social contact with the parents or the people of the town in which one teaches is beneficial to the teacher. Many times a teacher's attitude toward her pupils can be changed when she understands the conditions in the homes from which they come.

Suitcase teachers, it seems, have become less prevalent, and doubtless, it is to the advantage of both teachers and students.

The Book Shelf

POEMS OF HEINE

This volume, translated by Louis Untermeyer, includes poems never before translated into English. "For the first time, the English reader is furnished with a genuinely representative selection from Heine's poems so translated as to give not merely the superficial meaning, but their real significance."

CEZANNE

(By Roper Fry)

The author describes Cezanne's boyhood and family background, his early days in Paris, his relations with the Impressionists and the various influences that gradually molded his work. He analyzes some of Cezanne's typical pictures, over fifty of which are reproduced in half-tone in this volume.

THE CREAM OF THE JEST

(By James B. Cabell)

In its basic plan this book is an attempt to lay bare the secret soul of Felix Kennarton, a successful novelist. Within him dwells an adventurous spirit that ranges the whole of the visible universe, and a lover who has found his heart's desire. This is not a popular novel, not a story, not a mere time-killer, it is a piece of literature.

THE DISCOVERY OF EUROPE

(By P. Cohen-Porthern)

"The Discovery of Europe", by the author of "England the Unknown Isle", "Time Stood Still", etc., is not only one of discovery but of challenge. The author reveals the ancient virtues of this little continent which is "truly the mother of civilization", only to find them threatened on two sides by the rising power and ideals of Russia and America.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS POLITICAL RALLY DURING ASSEMBLY

SPEAKERS BOOST CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT AND GOVERNORSHIP

Student politicians of the Training School as well as holding a political rally, took a straw vote. In the Senior High School, Hoover received fifteen votes, Roosevelt 26, and Thomas six; for governor, Olson received 36, Brown eight, and Regan one vote. The Junior High school voted only on the presidential candidates and Roosevelt took the lead with 29 votes, Hoover next with 23, and Thomas one vote.

Alfred Briggs spoke in behalf of Floyd B. Olson, followed by a demonstration for the Farmer-Labor governor, led by Ruth Shockman. Earl Brown, Republican candidate was boosted in a talk by Fern Lea.

National party standard bearers were Charles Kirkevold, who defended Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for president. Clifton Olson led the Roosevelt affiliation in yells and songs. Speaking in favor of Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate for president, was Leverett Hoag. Donald Boothroyd was in charge of the demonstration that followed. Frances Grover talked in favor of reelection of Hoover. Hooverites rallied to a demonstration headed by Harold Bekkerus.

Mary Holmquist, college High school student, acted as chairman of the rally, the work being under the general direction of Miss Hawkinson.

The student teachers in the Kindergarten and Primary departments entertained their supervisors at a luncheon last Monday afternoon at the Campus Tea Room.

The intermediate grades are working on a skit which they call "Club Meetings." They are emphasizing the humorous element in books and will give this skit in the High School assembly next week.

Mr. Loewen has been working on the debate squad and will announce its members soon.

ABERDEEN PEDS DEFEAT DRAGONS AT HOMECOMING

BRILLIANT PASS OFFENSE IN THE FIRST PERIOD NETS WOLVES THEIR ONLY TALLY

Exhibiting an unusually successful pass attack for short time during the first quarter, the Aberdeen Wolves of the Aberdeen South Dakota Normal School defeated the Dragons 7-0 on Memorial Field, Saturday, November 5. The game was a contrast to the one which the Dragons and Wolves battled to a scoreless tie last year, at the Homecoming game also.

The Dragons, however, outplayed their opponents during the last three quarters, especially during the second half. The end sweeps of the Aberdeen crew failed to effect consistent gains after the Wolves had scored, and towards the last canto of the setto, their thrusts were thrown for a loss time after-time.

Aberdeen Scores On Pass

Aberdeen scored after about seven minutes of play, climaxing a series of brilliant passes netting 80 yards in three plays. With 26 yards to go, Wolvington received a pass from Willard and barely crossed the last stripe when he was tackled by Matty Knaf. The receiver was injured in the play, sustaining a dislocated shoulder.

The Dragon offense and defense clicked like clock-work after the disqualification of Bill Robinson, in the third quarter. Inspired by a desire to make up for his loss, the team marched down the field time after time, but failed to score, both because of some faulty field judgment and a lot of resistance on the part of the Aberdeen crew. Especially notable were the line thrusts of Herman Krajeck and Joe Edlund, a successful pass to Thompson, and also a sensational snare of a long pass by Willard Anderson.

Four Seniors Finish Careers

Bill Robinson was easily the outstanding backfield man on the field, punting, carrying the ball, and tackling in a manner that proved that he was one of the greatest triple-threat men who have been developed by Coach Nemzek. Three other Seniors in their last games also played splendidly. Captain Hank Booher at end gave everything he had, tackled hard, and played a general all around good game, ably assisted by Herb Moberg, and Herman Krajeck, stars who have scintillated on Memorial Field for four years.

For the South Dakota eleven, Captain Eliason, Wolvington, Leland, and Willard played heads-up games. Willard especially looked good. The boy with the big "11" on his shirt passed and received, carried the ball and tackled, punted and played safety.

Baby Dragons Defeated In Final Football Tilt

Receiving their third defeat of the season, the Baby Dragons completed their football schedule at Mahnomen November 2, when they were defeated 12-0. The game was hard played, and when the final whistle blew the College High boys were well on their way to a touchdown.

Raving Reporter Rambles and Roams 'Round Reminiscing Right Romantically

(By Clara Undseth)

Various activities on the Campus on Saturday carried out the theme of economy with the spirit of prosperity. The banquet theme was a prosperity campaign in which the speakers took the press out of depression!

The practicality of the floats carried out the idea of economy, as did the gifts to local welfare organizations.

The threshing machine fitted into the day's routine also. It was much more fitting at ten o'clock than five.

Recognition of emblems on the Kappa Delta Pi car probably brought the nod and smile from one of the neighboring professors, or was it just another sign of advertising that he enjoyed? The occupants of the car also enjoyed the DeSoto. The Queen of the festivities also enjoyed a ride in a DeSoto.

Even as early as Homecoming the students know that sometime there will be a new Praeceptor? Why? Clarence Glasrud was out with a kodak. Then again, the members of the M. S. T. C. know that there will be a new film to be shown in assembly or saved for a freshman conference day next fall. Why? Well, first, Dr. Archer hurried from one spot to another upon the Campus and no sooner had the parade started than Dr. Archer was at one side turning the film. Immediately the parade turned to the west on Center Ave., one had only to glance up to find him framed by the window casings. Where? Second floor at Harris's, still turning the crank.

Another place in which the spirit of prosperity ruled was the College tea room at noon, where members of Lambda Phi Sigma talked on Free Silver, Greenbacks, and the Gold Standard.

Many of the alumni registered in the Homecoming Album. This book was made in 1930 by four former students: Nilma Chrisman, Crookston; Elsa Krabbenhoft, Sabin; Elsie Ogren, Thief River Falls; and Otillia Cardinal, Red Lake Falls.

The school spirit of M. S. T. C. is growing, very likely because of the effective work of the pep squad and leaders. Keep it up!

The writer heard one alumni comment on the banquet to this effect, "I've paid more for a dinner and gotten less at other places."

Christensen's Send Homecoming Flash

A telegram wishing success for the Dragons, from Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Christensen, was read at the Homecoming pepfest November 4. It came from Iowa City, Iowa, where Mr. Christensen is doing graduate study at Iowa University while on leave of absence from the College.

Mr. Christensen's march, "Intrepidus" is being played this year by the university band. It was composed immediately after the fire of 1930 to express the undaunted spirit of the Dragons, and the selection is now being advertised by the Barnhouse company, which says "a great march, with fine arrangement." Above a reproduction of the composition is the legend, "Dedicated to President R. B. MacLean, State Teachers College, Moorhead, Minnesota."

And now our annual discourse on officials.
It is said that if given a fairly clear day, a good loud whistle and a certain latitude in the matter of opinion, a football official can turn an otherwise gentle, kind and noble population of football fans into a veritable caldron of homicidal intentions.
If you have ever taken the trouble to revert your attention from the details of a football play and watch one of the officials go charging into a pile of huddled humanity, you will probably associate his wild dive with some mental condition.
It is not the case at all. It is the whistle that spurs the official on to his Annette Kellerman on a dry hard field.
But referees and umpires are a happy lot, so let's not flaunt their frailties.

W. A. L. Develops Plan To Create Interest

Betty Wilder, women's swimming captain, has been having the class do some interesting work. The class was divided into two teams, the Turtles and the Frogs. A point system is used, and so many points are given to the group for various contests. At the last meeting the contest consisted of floating forms and races, featuring the Book Worm, Bicycle Ride, Tub Race, Tree Stroke Race, and a Crawl Race. The Frogs, receiving ninety points, were victorious over the Turtles, who had twenty-five points.

A meeting of the "M" Club was held Tuesday evening at Jeanie Gibb's home. The pledge group was discussed. This group consists of girls who are interested in Athletics and those who do outstanding work in Physical Education. Plans for the winter party were discussed.

A W. A. L. kickball game was played Monday at four o'clock. Naomi Minette and Lou Ceil Laings were the elected captains. Minette's team won a victory over Laing's team by a score of 30 to 25.

There will be no tournaments for the various outside activities because of the cold weather, which has been a handicap to W. A. L. all fall.
