SHAKESPEARE'S PLAYS POPULAR IN NEW MEXICO

Las Vegas, N. M.—(Special).—Shakespeare is being enthusiastically received by cowboys and shepherders down in the mountain range and mesa country of New Mexico.

Footlights consisted of a single gas lamp. The front row seats were so close to the stage that when Petruchio, in the banquet scene, hurled a salt-cellar, the healthy sized receptacle bounced into the lap of a heavily chapped spectator.

No Stage Settings. There are no stage settings and the actors' costumes are hand-made at the minimum of expense.

"I'll woo her with some spirit when she comes," Petruchio confided as he awaited the shrew in her father's garden.

"Yi, look out! Yuh better cut loose yuh rope, feller," a nasal voice sang forth, which is just a cowboy's way of saying "look out!"

"The department of dramatics of the New Mexico State Normal, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Scott, has undertaken to see that frontier folk, cattle and sheep men and miners, and children in remote school districts receive wholesome dramatic

"LIVING IN THE MOON" DISCUSSED AT CHAPEL

During the chapel hour on Wednesday President R. B. MacLean introduced Mr. Lindsay, representative of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., who stated that he wished to be of service in any way possible to the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. on this campus.

Mr. C. A. Ballard, head of the Science department of the college, gave an address on the subject "Living in the Moon." He stated that various superstitions have grown as a result of ignorance that is prevalent regarding scientific facts.

PLANS MADE FOR CONCERT COURSE

The College plans to have several entertainments of high artistic merit this coming summer. One number has already been engaged, The Powers String Quartet, while the visits of other artists are being arranged.

The lyceum course maintained by the college and the entertainments furnished by Fargo and Moorhead through local and national artists offered the students an excellent opportunity of hearing many good things in music, lecture, and drama.

Lyceum numbers of last summer and previous years have included Henry Lawrence Southwick, President of the Emerson College of Oratory; Belle Forbes-Cutter, well-known American soprano; Harry Farbman, popular young violinist; and the Muenzer Trio, three artists on stringed instruments.

MR. CHRISTENSEN ACTS AS JUDGE AT CAMPBELL

LEAD THROUGHOUT MOST OF CONTEST

BALDWIN LEADS OFFENSIVE DRIVE; JOOS WAS HIGH IN POINTS SCORED

The Peds annexed their first Conference win last Saturday night, defeating the Jamestown aggregation 19 to 14. The win came rather as a pleasant surprise, since Jamestown was reputed to be a strong contender for the championship of the Interstate Conference.

Gowenlock started the fireworks with a pretty field goal from back of the foul line, completing a nice piece of team work on the part of the Peds. Joos, Jimmie center, soon evened the count with a long heave from center, and a minute later Bristol put the Jimmies in the lead with another basket.

Gowenlock again started the Ped scoring with a counter from the field, Joos made the count 12 to 11 with two field goals in rapid succession. Nemzek inserted Bestick into the fray at this stage and he came through with a neat double counter from the center of the floor.

Anderson played a great game for the Peds, scoring three times from the field and holding Schaumburg, the Jamestown scoring ace, to no field goals.

Table with 4 columns: M. S. T. C., FG, FT, PF. Rows include Burton, Baldwin, Friedlund, Cox, Bestick, Gowenlock, Anderson.

FINAL TILT WITH COBBERS SAT. EVE

The Peds are going to try to make it three straight from the Cobbers when they meet tomorrow evening in the final tilt of the four-game series. The first game was won by the Cobbers, but the Peds annexed the next two.

Coach Nemzek has rounded out a formidable five, which was shown when the Peds defeated Jamestown, one of the strongest contenders for the Interstate Conference Championship.

The Peds defeated the A. C. Freshmen in a spirited scrimmage at the A. C. gym on Monday afternoon by the score 18 to 17. Every man functioned beautifully in this game and in the workouts this week have shown the best form of the season.

ADVANTAGES OF SUMMER SESSION

This issue of The MISTIC is a special announcement issue, describing life and activities at Moorhead Teachers College. The editors wish especially to emphasize the advantages of the summer session. These weeks come at the most beautiful season of the year when the trees lining Seventh Avenue are in full green foliage. Moorhead is an especially desirable place to live during this growing season. Week-ends may be spent in an outing to neighboring lakes to the east, or on the Red River. The afternoons may be spent in studying under the shady trees. The cities of Fargo and Moorhead offer ideal opportunities for social and recreational contacts which only large towns can afford.

For the high school graduate who wants to get acquainted early, for the teacher who is busy at her profession during the school year, for the student who wishes to earn extra credits to apply toward one of the three courses now being offered, a delightful summer spent at Moorhead Teachers College will not be wasted.

OUR GROWING SCHOOL

Within the last half decade, Moorhead State Teachers College has found its place among the growing colleges of this state. To its credit, it has been added the four-year college course from which the students may receive the Bachelor of Education degree. With this growth has come a new curriculum, one which can better suit the needs of a professional college. Among subjects which were recently added to the new curriculum we may notice the regional course in Geography of North America, South America, and Asia. Other useful courses are Story Telling and Play Production. History Materials, Extra-Curricular Activities and Improvement of the Written Examination. All of these aid in the aim of making each department broad in its scope.

As a result of this enlarged curriculum seven students will graduate with the Degree in June.

DEVELOPMENT OF VALENTINE'S DAY

To Saint Valentine, a bishop and martyr of the church who was put to death at Rome for his faith during the persecution under Claudius II, February 14, 270 A. D., we owe the observance of Valentine Day. It is believed that Valentine was in the habit of leaving baskets of food on poor people's doorsteps. Thus, after his death, it was only rational that the custom of sending tokens and greetings commemorating the man's death should arise; furthermore, it was also thought that on February 14 the birds mate. According to history it was a custom of the young folks to meet and draw a name from a common receptacle and the person whose names they drew were to be faithful to them for one year. Thus we can easily see the reason for all the sentiment in our valentines.

We moderns have proceeded to make a farce of Valentine's Day. Our American manufacturers conceived the idea that if they would manufacture comic valentines, which could be sent to those whom you would otherwise not remember, their sales would be greatly increased. However, there is still a great deal of the original spirit displayed. Tokens and greetings of love and friendship are still being sent on Valentine Day and undoubtedly will continue to be sent as long as there is love and friendship in the world.

CONFERENCE NOTES

(By Claude Nemzek)

Coach Alex Nemzek's Ped cagers "kicked the old proverbial dope bucket" Saturday when they downed the Jimmies 19-14. It virtually eliminated the "Jimmies" as a championship contender.

The Wahpeton Wildcats advanced two paces nearer the loop honors by trouncing Ellendale and Jamestown. Although the Valley City Vikings lost to the Mayville Comets to the tune of 21-14, we cannot count Coach Morrison's proteges out of the race. One thing seems certain and that is that Coach Bute has a more favorable schedule to play. Valley City has two ferocious battles remaining. One is with the Jimmies at Jamestown, while the other is with the Peds at Valley City. The team winning the pennant really will not be certain until those games are played. Another important game on the Ped schedule is at Jamestown with the Jimmies, but it does not have the championship aspects of the Jimmie-Viking or Ped-Viking contests.

Evidently the Mayville Comets smothered the Vikings on the small Mayville floor. There is one thing that we cannot do out, however. We are wondering where Eddie Burchill keeps himself when the Vikings play on foreign courts. We believe that a player who can star on his home court would be a valuable asset wherever the team plays. Of course, we may be wrong. What do you think?

Conference standings:

| Valley City Teachers | 7 | 2 | .778 |
| Jamestown College | 3 | 3 | .500 |

THE "MISTICAL" REPORTER He or She?

The other day I happened to board a Teachers College car. I sat behind several of our college girls. Very soon after I was seated I heard something like this: "Well, just the same it isn't fair."

"It certainly is!"
 "It surely is not! I don't care! It isn't fair! That doesn't matter one bit—it isn't fair."

"Wouldn't you like to have me save you a seat every morning, Irene? Then I suppose you would think it was perfectly all right."

"I would not—it isn't—" and just then the bell, warning a milk wagon of the speedy arrival of our car, drowned Marjorie Adams' and Irene Nippolt's voices, so I don't know how the argument finally ended.

After I arrived at school, I went to the postoffice to get my mail. As I was leaving, Arlo Baldwin entered, walked over to his box, opened it, disgustedly banged it shut, and announced, "I am going to get a divorce mighty soon if she doesn't begin to write oftener."

As it was getting late I ran upstairs and in the main hall I encountered Mense Anderson and "Suitcase." They apparently were holding a tongue-lashing contest when it was finally completed by Mense's announcement, "Say, kid, the only thing that saves you is that there's a shortage of men around this place."

I walked down the hall and passed room 23 just in time to hear Mr. Hamrin remark as he pulled down the shade, "Sunlight bothers some people but the limelight bothers more people."

Since the first bell had already sounded I had to run up to the "MISTIC" office with my article, and I couldn't hear anything more. However, I intend to drop into chapel one of these days to see what I can discover.

THE BOOK SHELF

"PRESENT ECONOMIC REVOLUTION IN THE UNITED STATES"

(By Thomas Nixon Carver)

Any movement that is destined to change the economic system of a nation deserves much consideration.

Few people are aware of the economic revolution that is taking place in the United States at the present time, although they are actually taking part in it.

Thomas Nixon Carver, Professor of Political Economy at Harvard University, has explained the facts concerning this new labor activity with startling clearness in his new work, "The Present Economic Revolution in the United States."

Professor Carver says, "The only economic revolution now under way is going on in the United States. It is a revolution that is to wipe out the distinction between laborers and capitalists by making laborers their own capitalists and by compelling most capitalists to become laborers of one kind or another, because not many of them will be able to live on the returns from capital alone. This is something new in the history of the world."

American labor has evolved a new policy. Professor Carver calls it "the higher strategy of labor."

"Instead of continuing to fight capital they are beginning to recognize its power and to use it as an implement for their own improvement. There are at least three kinds of evidence that indicate roughly the extent to which laborers are becoming their own capitalists: first, the rapid growth of savings deposits; second, the investment by laborers in the shares of corporations; third, the growth of labor banks."

Professor Carver also speaks of a "balanced economic system." It is one of the newest ideas in the economic world, and it is primarily based upon an effective system of popular education. Education is one of the keynotes of the entire economic revolution. No wonder the movement "is being brought about by the school-ma'ams and the business men primarily, though everybody who does really good and honest work in any field of useful endeavor and who thinks clearly and votes sanely has his part in it."

This great movement that is tending to destroy the class distinction between capital and labor will cast many of our present evils into oblivion, perhaps the greatest of which is the strike.

We are now standing on the threshold of achieving the great ideals of American democracy, liberty, and equality.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATING STRONG AT M. S. T. C.

Three years ago argumentation and debate was added to the curriculum of M. S. T. C. Since that time we find that some ninety students have availed themselves of the training afforded by this course. It has been offered once a year. The work of this class has been carried over into inter-collegiate debating, but no student of the school is barred from entry in inter-collegiate debate because he has not taken this course.

In the short span of two years, the "Crimson and White" has clashed 12 times with rival colleges and universities on various questions, and this year six debates have been scheduled.

We have met the University of North Dakota three times, Jamestown College of Jamestown, North Dakota, five times, St. Thomas College of St. Paul once, and Aberdeen, South Dakota, Teachers College three times. The University of North Dakota has a chapter of Delta Sigma Rho; and Jamestown, Aberdeen, and St. Thomas all have chapters of Pi Kappa Delta. During these encounters M. S. T. C. has been defeated only twice; part of the debates were non-decision, however.

We hope to have a chapter of Pi Kappa Delta here in the near future.

 entertainment. Of course, Shakespeare in the cow country is still somewhat of a pioneer stage, but since the first appearance of the Normal Players in Santa Rosa in October, 1925, the movement has met with most surprising success.

Troupe Is Self-Supporting.

The student troupe is a self-supporting one, and to make this possible arrangements are generally made whereby the public school of a given town sponsors the sale of tickets and the receipts are then divided, 40 per cent to the local sponsor and 60 to the mesa dramatics. The players travel by automobile, frequently over doubtful roads, frequently in the face of sandstorms or "northers." The distance between towns averages about 100 miles.

Audience Is Responsive.

The players are rewarded by sincere response to their dramatic efforts. Many times they see hardened knuckles slipping furtively towards moistened eyes, or on the other hand, hear hearty unfeigned laughter boom forth from the prairie meeting houses.

The prize comment was that of an interested section hand who said that he certainly must go to see the play if it was by Shakespeare, as he had always been so fond of Shakespeare's stories about the Bible, especially "The Trial by Pilate." But in the main appreciation of the plays has been unexpectedly intelligent, as much so, no doubt as in the average city.

A performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" had just been concluded in a yucca-orchard village better than fifty miles out on the prairie.

"That there play," commented one ranchman as he climbed into his wagon, "ain't such a rumpus for gun-play, but it gives a person something to think about."

Guests on the campus were: Irene Borchert of Fargo, who visited with Gladys Rentz; Mrs. Graeme of Wadena, as a guest of Ruth Robinson; Marcelle Redlinger and Margaret Alzheimer of Breckenridge, who visited with Agnes Redlinger, and Mrs. Davis of Fergus Falls, who visited with her daughter, Florence.

NO SCIENCE-RELIGION CONFLICT, "Y" MEN SAY

That religion and science do not and can not conflict was the unanimous verdict of a group of students who discussed "Religion vs. Science" at the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. This conclusion was reached at an Open Forum following a presentation of the subject by Willard Gowenlock. Mr. Gowenlock declared that evolution is not the first instance of controversy between scientific and religious radicals; that the shape of the earth was once as serious a bone of contention as evolution is today. Today, he said, we do not consider religion and science divided over the question of the shape of the earth.

TWO STAFF MEMBERS LOST IN WILD RUSH OF BUDDING JOURNALISTS TO STORM OWL STUDIO

"All aboard," shouted Louie, and a score of embryonic literary lights piled into the M. S. T. C. limousine (?) and merrily began their momentous journey.

A corner was rounded; the individual occupants picked themselves out of the melee and began locating various belongings—hats, purses, bruises, and broken bones.

Sixteen corners were negotiated, each time resulting in catastrophe. A tour of Broadway was necessary before adequate parking space was available, but at last they found refuge in an alley.

With the courage and perseverance inherited from their pioneer parents the crowd stormed its objective, namely, the Owl Studio.

Were their troubles over? No, verily only begun. In spite of Claude's back seat driving, Louie had lost two of his passengers. Horrors! The faculty straw boss and Petrie, the massage (make-up) editor, were missing! The ambulance, however, was not far behind. Broken and battered, with the support of their staff they were able to remain erect and assume a serene pose until Romeo had adjusted his smile and the camera had clicked.

Another charge for the waiting room! The mob oozed into its great coats and poured down the staircase.

And behold! On the street was Louie! Faithful to the end! Back in the studio, picture frames hung empty, masterpieces were missing, a broken chair lurched drunkenly, but quiet reigned, and all were happy.
