MacLean, Sande, Hoel To Speak At Gateway Dedication Ceremony

PARADE WILL INITIATE NEW ENTRANCE TO HOME OF THE DRAGONS

When the bugle sounds Saturday morning at ten o'clock, the dedication ceremony of the new entrance way will begin.

Participants in the ceremonies will be Dorothy Hoel, president of the Student Commission, and Mr. Sande, president of the Alumni Association, who will express the sentiments from the students' and alumni points of view, respectively. Following these two speakers, President MacLean will interpret the significance of the gateway.

After the playing of the Alma Mater by the Dragon Band, President MacLean will officially and formally cut the ribbon, stretched across the gateway, and the parade will initiate the new entrance.

Gateway Theme

"Passing through the gate" is to be the theme of this year's Homecoming parade, Saturday morning, November 4. The floats will form around the Campus circle and pass through the newly dedicated student-alumni gateway at 10:15 a. m. Their course will follow Eleventh street to Center Avenue, down Center Avenue to Fourth street, over to First Avenue South and Eighth street, down Eighth street to Seventh Avenue and back to the Campus, where the procession will disband.

The order of parade has not yet been definitely determined but groups participating will include the College Band, Training School Band, Queen's Car, Geography Council, Gamma Nu, Psi Delta Kappa, Pi Mu Phi, Sigma Tau Delta, All-Women's Organization, Art Club, Jeanne d'Arc Club, Alpha Epsilon, Owls, Lambda Phi Sigma, Newman Club, Country Life Club and Rho Lambda Chi, Sophomore Class, Dramatic Club, Alpha Psi Omega, and Pi Delta Sigma.

Three trophies are to be awarded, one for the most beautiful float, a permanent trophy, one for the most representative float, and one for the most unique float, the latter trophy donated by Martinson's Jewelry.

Bird Returns From St. Paul Conference

Announces Educational Program For Unemployed Adults

Of particular interest to educators is the program outlined under the revised plans for the education of the unemployed in Minnesota, according to Donald Bird, district administrator of the State Commission on Education of the Unemployed, who returned from a conference with Dr. Harold Benjamin, State Administrator, on Wednesday evening. Free instruction to all those unemployed persons who wish to attend classes instituted in various community centers, forms the basis for what might be termed a "program of adult education."

Should funds and facilities permit these classes which are to be instructed by unemployed teachers hired on a "work-relief" plan by the State Commission will be thrown open to anyone wishing to attend. The initiative for the actual organizing of classes, the selection of courses, and the conducting of an integrated program will come from the local communities. In most cases the superintendent of schools will act as the local executive.

In the west-central district comprised of Otter Tail, Normal, Wilkin, Norman, Mahnomen, and Becker counties, it is estimated that some thirty-five unemployed teachers will be given part-time jobs. Emphasis is being placed on the organization of activity programs of music, physical education, dramatics, or public speaking, as well as an instruction in academic and vocational subjects.

Temple University, Philadelphia, sets the unique record of having eight sets of twins among the student body—all but one having chosen the same department.

Urges Attendance

Dorothy Hoel

Dear Alumni:

The Dragons welcome you to your Alma Mater on November 4 and 5 for the eleventh annual Homecoming of the college.

Both faculty and student body have been putting forth united efforts to make this Homecoming one of the finest ones that have ever been presented. It is our sincere hope that a great many of you alumni may shake off "Old Man Depression" and be here to enter into the novel features of this year's festivities.

You will enjoy the symmetry and dignified beauty of the new buildings and the Campus with its recently completed drives and gateway. But most of all we know that you are looking forward to renewing old acquaintanceships with your faculty and College friends.

We are planning on you, though you, a large group, are scattered throughout the country, to come together at this time, that through our unity, the spirit of the Dragon may reign supreme.

The Student Commission,
Dorothy Hoel, President.

Berenice Cox Chosen For Homecoming Queen

IS A JUNIOR; ATTENDANTS FOR CORONATION ARE ANNOUNCED

Berenice Cox, Moorhead, is the 1933 Dragon Homecoming Queen. She was chosen at an election held last Friday under the auspices of the Homecoming publicity committee.

Miss Cox is a Junior at the college and is prominent in social and educational activities. She is a member of Althia, International Relations club, Lambda Phi Sigma, Alpha Psi Omega, MISTIC Staff, Praeceptor staff, Lyceum Committee, and president of the newly formed All-Women's Organization.

Acting as attendants to Miss Cox will be Nina Jorgenson, Pilot, N. D.; Mildred Lee, Madison; Marjorie Fields, Fargo, N. D.; Dorothy MacIlraith, Northcote; and Norma Larson, Moorhead. Eleanor Laing, Fargo, has been chosen by Miss Cox as her sixth attendant.

It is estimated that students can obtain an education at the University of Arizona, Tucson, for as little as $320, including tuition and living costs.

Puppet Revue Will Be Given Wednesday As Second Lyceum Number

SUE HASTINGS' MARIONETTES TO PRESENT SONGS, PLAYS AND DANCES

Complimentary to the Training School, and as a treat to entertainment lovers of this vicinity, Miss Hayes, chairman of the Lyceum committee, announces that Sue Hastings' Marionettes will appear in the auditorium of Weld Hall, Wednesday, November 1, at 4:00 p. m., as the second number on the year's Lyceum course.

The presentation here will be a Puppet Revue of songs, plays, and dances. Mrs. Hastings' "family," as she calls them, consists of more than 500 puppets, including clowns, pickaninnies, lions, dragons, minstrels, etc.

Mrs. Hastings' Puppet Revue comes direct from New York, where it has enjoyed success during the past four seasons as a presentation of the New York Theatre Guild.

Students of the College will be admitted upon presentation of their activity tickets, while the price of admission for others has been set at 25 cents.

Gateway To Be Theme Of Banquet Program

INSCRIPTIONS ON GATEPOSTS WILL FURNISH TOPICS FOR SPEAKERS

In keeping with the general thought underlying this year's entire Homecoming, "The Gateway" will be the theme of the program for the alumni-student-faculty banquet to be held at Comstock Hall, Saturday evening, November 4, at 6:30 p. m.

The committee in charge of arrangements is announcing a tentative program with Cecil Veitch as toast master. Each of the speakers will use one of the inscriptions which appear on the gateposts as the topic for his talk. Miss Dorothy Hoel, as president of the Student Commission will welcome the alumni with remarks based on the chief inscription: State Teachers College, to which Mr. John Ingersoll, B. E. '32, will respond, using as his theme, "That from her portals her sons and daughters might go forth."

Representing the faculty, Mr. Green will speak on "An expression of their faith in Public education." Mrs. Obert Fossay, '25, has as her theme, "Pledge we mind and heart and soul to her we love—our Alma Mater." President MacLean will, according to tradition, conclude with his talk on, "And the truth shall make you free." Music will be furnished by Mr. Preston and the double quartette.

The alumni-student-faculty dance will be held from 9:30 until 12:00 in an appropriately decorated gymnasium. With the sounding of the taps at midnight, the Homecoming activities will be officially ended.

Middlebury College has inaugurated a course to educate students in the fine art of marriage.

From the back of the auditorium the queen's approach will be heralded by two trumpeters. Then she will be escorted with due pomp to the stage. Here she will be crowned by Dorothy Hoel, president of the Student Commission.

At this time also, speeches will be given by Coach "Sliv" Nemzek and others. The band will play several old selections and a new one, especially suited for this occasion.

Invites Alumni

Pres. R. B. MacLean

Dear Graduates:

Can you see in your mind's eye, the crimson and the white fluttering on the campus? Is there in your heart a bit of sentiment for your Alma Mater? Are you minded to help the institution in its altruistic, social and educational program?

To all such the invitation is to return for Homecoming. You will find a new Campus. The beautiful entrance-way, the gift of alumni and students, is to be dedicated.

Above all else, you will find a warm welcome from friends and a varied program for your entertainment and profit. The faculty and students join in a sincere invitation to every graduate to come to Moorhead for the Homecoming of 1933.

President R. B. MacLean.

College Groups Plan Reunions For Alumni

BREAKFASTS, LUNCHEONS ARE SCHEDULED FOR DRAGON HOMECOMERS

During the Homecoming festivities, the alumni will be honored at various get-togethers given by the organizations of the College. ## Colorful Campus Will Greet Returning Grads

HOMECOMING DRAGON LOST LAST YEAR TO WOLVES HELPS IN DECORATION

A large crimson dragon will be the first to greet alumni returning for homecoming this year. This particular dragon, because he is the largest dragon on the campus and because of the prestige he acquired among the student body by spending the past year as the unwilling guest of the Aberdeen Wolves, will salute visitors as they enter the new gateway of their Alma Mater. His greeting place will be established at the inside of the drive, directly in front of the gate.

Triangular, crimson and white pendants, waving from the tops of the light posts, and strings of colored lights will adorn the main circular drive. But visitors will have proceeded only a short distance along the drive till their attention will be drawn to perhaps the most unique feature in the decorations of the campus. Over the doorway of MacLean Hall will be perched a red neon-light dragon four feet high and two feet wide. This is a new feature among the usual Homecoming array of color.

Pendants and streamers will deck the goal posts and bleachers on Memorial Field for the football game. Two figures will form the background of the stage in the Weld Hall auditorium during the coronation of the queen, one representing the spirit of Alma Mater, the other, an M. S. T. C. student. Lattice-work entwined with a vine composed of autumn leaves and colored paper will extend across the front of the stage forming an arch over the steps at either side.

The decoration committee has done its part to make this Homecoming a real live one.

Miss Hougham, college librarian, has returned from a trip to Chicago, where she attended the American Library association convention from October 16-21. She also visited the Century of Progress Exposition.

The University of Chicago has the largest football stadium in the country. It is capable of seating 110,000 people.

THE GATEWAY DEDICATION

Next Friday marks the arrival of another Homecoming celebration in the annals of Moorhead State Teachers College history. Along with the regular features of Homecoming, an occasion of great importance, the dedication of the Campus gateway will take place.

This gateway dedication means a great deal to the alumni, faculty, and students of the College. In the first place it means the virtual completion of the renovation and reconstruction of a greater College. For the students and faculty it means the completion of new facilities, comfortable accommodations, and a beautiful Campus to look out upon. For the alumni it means the completion of a great Alma Mater to which to return from year to year.

This gateway, however, has an added significance to all persons connected with the College. It is a project in which students, alumni, and faculty have united their efforts and their money. It is a symbol of the close relationship of former and present students, who have combined for one purpose, serving their Alma Mater.

The gateway dedication at Homecoming will be a ceremony which every active, loyal alumnus should make every possible effort to witness.

ADHERENCE TO THE POINT SYSTEM

Some time ago an account of a student activity point system was run in the columns of this paper. This system was quite similar to that used in previous years. It was no innovation. But the point system this year has an innovation; it is going to be enforced.

In former years this system has been a mere threat minus the machinery and equipment for thorough enforcement. Students have looked upon it as a joke or have disregarded it entirely. This year, however, the matter has been placed in competent hands who are busily checking up on the various activities of the students, and all students will have to remain within the maximum limit of 25 points.

A number of students who realize the value of this system are busy resigning from organizations and readjusting their extra-curricular schedule so as to comply with the ruling. On the other hand, there are a few students who are doing nothing, except grumble now and then, toward reducing their extra-curricular load.

There may be disagreement with various items of the point system. It has some glaring defects and weaknesses without a doubt. But then so has any measure that has not been thoroughly tested. Only experience will bring out these weaknesses and no doubt when they crop up, the point system will be amended to meet the need. But until then it will be necessary to conform with the standards of the present system.

From The Editor's Semicircle

Much favorable comment was heard on the Campus about the concert given by the harpist, Salvi.

Wasn't that a fine sample of dramatics that the Dramatic Club dished out for us last night?

Bemidji's not so far away. How about a rooting section at the game tomorrow?

Isn't it convenient to be able to drive around the Campus circle again?

Are the float committees getting their productions ready or are they waiting for the "last minute" rush?

Now that the Dragons have displayed a liking for Wolf meat, let's hope that Bison meat has a similar taste.

The Northern Teachers College Conference seems to lack a good publicity department. To find out the official Conference standings of this league is a task only to be attempted by a first class detective.

The Open Column

Editor's Note: The Open Column is expressly for students, faculty, and alumni who wish to criticize, eulogize, or otherwise. Speak your mind freely.

WILL IT WORK?

Rumors are afloat that the point system doesn't operate and is not going to. Evidently the people starting these rumors either do not want it, or think that, because of the delay in its enforcement it will not be carried out. Plans are now under way to enforce the provisions of the system but a certain amount of clerical work is necessary to find out information regarding the number of points each person has. This is being done, and though it has been delayed because of the time needed in order to get the information from the different organizations, the results will soon be found out. When this is done, it is hoped that the various students cooperate in the reducing of their points to get within that limit.

However, do not wait to reduce your points before the system goes into effect. Show how to cooperate by starting now.

—O. A.

MORE PEP

How does one act at pep fests? If I should ask this question before a group of students, I am afraid I should be met with a loud "horse laugh." About then someone would pipe up and ask: "How do you play jacks?"

Yes, ninety-nine out of a hundred would think I was crazy; but do you know that ninety-nine out of this hundred are as dead as King Tut at a pep fest, and over half never even go.

I should like to see a course introduced to incoming "Freshies" on how to act at a pep fest, and have these problems discussed.

First, how often should one go? I should suggest that there is no excuse except sickness. Our teams need everyone's support, and if you're not interested in the team, perhaps because your boy friend isn't on it, then remember that pep reflects on our Alma Mater, that is, college spirit. This should be a sufficient reason for going.

Now second, what do we mean by college spirit?

Well, remember, "fests" are no funerals; but, listen, did you hear that girl ask, "what are they yelling for?" then look around blankly and say, "I don't see anything to get so excited about."

Well, there you are—and if you tell her it's the college spirit she will probably scream and ask if it's coming her way. I suppose she means some ghostly spirit she has read about in ghost stories.

College spirit is like a smile—you can't give it without having it reflect on others. So let's cheer!—and that's a third problem.

Do you know how to cheer? Girls especially yell with a high pitched voice that doesn't carry, while most of the boys just look on. Let's open our mouths and let the lowered tones blast into a cheering that even our rivals will compliment.

If everyone keeps these few facts in mind, our college cheering will be much more outstanding.

Remember the byword: "We want more pep!"

Frances Gates

Exchanges

The Concordian, Concordia College, Moorhead.

John Nystul, 20, director of Concordia College Corporation, will give the Homecoming address at 10 o'clock Saturday in the College Chapel.

Manitou Messenger, St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn.

A set of 226 bound volumes of the famous "Gentlemen's Magazine," covering the period from 1731 to 1868, has been obtained by the college library.

Exponent, Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, S. D.

Josephine Brainard, senior, was elected to reign over the eighteenth annual Gypsy Day Homecoming activities Saturday. Percy Leland, elected marshal, rode at the head of the big parade and later in the day led the Wolves against Moorhead Teachers College.

Northwest Missourian, Missouri Teachers College, Maryville, Missouri.

Under the auspices of the First District Federation of Women's Clubs, 66 art paintings are being exhibited. Works of Bingham are featured.

Football has been discarded for rodeo sports at the Cheyenne school at Colorado Springs. Bucking horses and wild steers are considered less dangerous by Dr. Lloyd Shaw, superintendent.

Notes taken on a cuff while watching the boys leave for Aberdeen—Wonder why "Smitty" and Schranz got into the bus so early? Maybe to "hold down" those reserved seats beside the driver. Mac went in and took the back seat—suppose to get a good view of everything. "Red" sat down near the back door so in case of an accident, he'd be first out. What most concerned me was—who was going to take the seat immediately over the wheel? For a long time it was empty—then "Sliv" sat down, but for some unknown reason, when the bus pulled out, Stan Swenson was its occupant. Further, was it an assumed air of nonchalance or just plain indifference when the whole team sat there reading their MISTICs and disregarding the people who were endeavoring to catch at least one pleasant farewell glance?

At least they put pep into the party when they brought home the bacon and the Dragon, with a Wolf thrown in for good measure.

Now that the men have started raising mustaches it is rumored that many have taken to using "glam" to enhance the effect. For the benefit of those who don't know what "glam" is, we state that it is just mascara, Maybeline, etc.

Even after the recent snow and the cold weather, the flowers in the garden back of the school are still blossoming.

Have you gotten the habit of dunking your doughnut in your coffee every Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock? If not, you're missing a good lunch. All you have to do is walk across the campus to the Training School and there it is!

Homecoming is just a little ways away! Wonder if the Frosh have a good bonfire started?

Here's the best. The other day we overheard several erstwhile bachelors comparing recipes and exclaiming over the success of some of their recent attempts. Here's a chance for some of the bachelor-girls to "swap" recipes with these chefs. Why, even for the Geography Council the other night, Jack Bridges and "Pat" Peterson served the repast with satisfactory results.

It's getting bad! Carl Maedl has taken up sewing on a large scale. He even spent all Saturday afternoon on the second floor of Comstock Hall running the machine and chatting with the girls. Don't get too excited—you see he's on the decoration committee for Homecoming and they were making pennants, and he had to use the sewing machine and it was on the second floor Comstock, so-o-o-o.

It's getting quite common to hear, "Have you studied your relations?" No, it's not a course on the "Family" or such. They merely mean International Relations. See?

And then, some of those decorous men from our neighboring school were severely chastized for keeping our fair coeds out longer than the customary hour.

Exit: It's a grate life! Agreed?

Dragon Dreams

To fail is to live. Whether it be merely flunking a subject or that more significant failure of falling short in the eyes of one whom you would please, greater power to you, my friend!

With well-earned pride accept your opportunity; with humility study it; and ever after remember to love that fellow who "dies in disgrace and lets God finish the thought sublime," for within every one of us, yearning for expression, there is, indeed, one thought sublime—ourselves.

The majority of us live on hope and good intentions, with occasional ideals popping out as needed. Sometimes, however, we find a person who daily makes those ideals a part of herself, who in her own quiet way, cuts, matches, and sews a personality such as we must all look upon with admiration and love. Then, it seems, we have a true Homecoming queen.

Walpole's "Vanessa" Ends Social History Series

Hugh Walpole's series of novels about the Herries family comes to a close with "Vanessa," the fourth book in the series, which also brings to a conclusion Mr. Walpole's great social history of England from Georgian to contemporary times. Vanessa was the flower of the Herries clan in the years of its most magnificent flourishing. She belonged to the England of great possessions, of glittering balls and pageants and golden jubilees. Vanessa was one of the most beautiful women in England. This is her story, which brings the drama of the Herries down to our times.

A title which caught my eye and which sounded interesting in review was "Vandermark's Folly"—Herbert Quick. It is a story which tells of a rapidly changing phase of American civilization. I haven't read the book, but the review says that it is a swift moving tale of human impulses—good and bad—of love and hate, action, danger, hardship and reward. Why not try it?

Or if it's just a novel you wish, why not try "Java Head," by Joseph Hergesheimer? Here's just a key to the story: "Captain Gerret Ammidon returns to old Salem after a long voyage, bringing with him a beautiful Chinese wife—the lovely and exotic Taou Yuen." Can you leave this book alone? Read the story of her reactions in her strange situation in the house of the Ammidons. Another novel caught my eye, Winston Churchill's "The Crisis." It is declared to be the best Civil War story ever written. Throughout runs a powerful love theme, but it presents with splendid power, sincerity, and sympathy the great crisis in our national life.

Ye philosophers and readers who like to delve into profound questions will find Lewis Browne's "This Believing World" very good reading. One reviewer says, "There are some books with a charm so distinctive and original that it is almost an impertinence to analyze them. This is that kind of a book."

Rupert B. Vance has written two books which deal with the economic conditions in the South. One is entitled "Human Factors in Cotton Culture," and the other, "Human Geography of the South." Other new books which would be of interest to the student of Economic Geography are: "France—A Regional and Economic Geography," by Ormsby—an outgrowth and dealing with geographical literature of intensive study covering many years, cartography and statistics of France, and containing many maps; "Living Africa"—Bailey Willis—the author travelled over 6,000 miles to find an explanation of the rift valleys in the earthquake region of Central America.

The student of international relations should literally "eat up" the following books, which are but a few of the many new ones written on subjects of current history: "China Today: Economic," J. B. Condliffe; "European Diplomatic History, 1871-1932," Sontag; "The World of Nations," Pitman Potter; "Our Relations to the Nations of the Western Hemisphere," Charles Evans Hughes; "Jeffersonian Principles and Hamiltonian Principles," James Truslow Adams; "In Defense of the Senate," Royden Dangerfield; "The Monroe Doctrine, 1826-1869," Dexter Perkins; "International Communications—The American Attitude," Keith Clark; "Japan and America—A Journey and a Political Survey," Henry W. Taft; "International Society—Its Nature and Interests," Philip Marshall Brown; "Agricultural Russia and the Wheat Problem," Vladimir and Timoshenko; "The Background of International Relations," Charles Hodges. These books represent but a few of the many that a student will find at his disposal.

Alumni Association Will See Completion Of Gateway Project

UNIQUE PLAN FOR PERMANENT COURSE OF REVENUE IS PERFECTED

In the dedication of the College gateway, the Alumni Association will see another of its major projects completed, for although other groups have cooperated it was the Alumni Association that definitely initiated the project and is now subsidizing it, besides paying one-half of the cost. Last May Mr. Leonard Eriksson of Fergus Falls, a member of the board of directors, introduced the idea to the student body in a talk in Chapel, and since that time, the plans have been going steadily forward.

Looking to the future, the Alumni Association has perfected a plan for a permanent source of revenue which it believes to be unique in the middle west. Since the organization owns the six cottages which served as a home for the Training School for a period of more than two years following the fire, the money received in rent is to be the nucleus of the permanent fund. The Association plans to use this money for endowments and for furthering worthwhile projects on the Campus, of which the immediate one is the gateway.

Shortly after the fire in February, 1930, the Alumni Association did its "big deed" by purchasing the six cottages and lots. Later the legislature appropriated the money to buy this property from the organization, with the plan that sometime in the future the lots would be made an addition to the Campus.

However, in order to complete the landscaping now, it was necessary to move the cottages, so, in July, 1933, the Alumni Association again purchased the cottages from the state and proceeded to have them moved to their new location.

Obviously, a program of activities as extensive as these has necessitated many conferences and much careful planning by the board of directors. The members of this board are: Mr. Ole R. Sande of St. Paul, president; Mr. James Dahl of Glyndon, vice president; Mr. Ralph Iverson of Tower, secretary; Mr. Wallace Rosel of Hendrum, treasurer; Miss Blanche Loudon of Moorhead, Miss Anna Lyngstad of Halstad, and Mr. Leonard Eriksson of Fergus Falls.

ALUMNI NOTICE

"Make your reservation early," is the plea of the Alumni banquet committee, for even the most optimistic member of the group is at a loss to know how to answer Miss Dahl's timely question, "And how many reservations do you wish to make?"

For your convenience, a reservation card has been inserted in this issue of the MISTIC. You are asked to use it—before November 2.

Clay Plays Important Part In Homecoming Pageant

The Dragons can play football—and how.

At a recent M. S. T. C. football game, ten players, in the excitement of a prospective touchdown, were strewn unconscious on the field and left there unnoticed. Immediately the Rooter-King burst his lungs, lost his mental equilibrium, and rushed across the football field, where, as the bleachers and their occupants sprang up with glowing eyes, he fell senseless on the ground.

(Weep not, ye tender-hearted; he was not our handsome Dudley Lockrem but a man of far baser, greener clay.)

Green indeed was the clay of that rooter-king—the green, plastic stuff which art classes use. Of green clay also were the football heroes who, bearing the fingerprints of art students, fought so ruthlessly on a miniature stage in the exchange last night.

Miss Corneliussen Honors Sister At Evening Dinner

Miss Alice Corneliussen entertained at a dinner Wednesday evening in the Hollyhock room in honor of her sister, Mrs. Rudolph Rasmussen, of Starbuck, Manitoba, who, with Mr. Rasmussen and two sons, Ralph and Mel Edgar, are guests at the Evan Corneliussen home at Comstock. ## Long-Lost Dragon Escorts "Big Bad Wolf" To Its Lair History boasts no greater triumph. The parade of Caesar was nothing in comparison.

The orchestra stopped playing, the dancers stopped dancing, even Harlow and Adele forgot to look at each other—all moved aside to make room for the Dragons who burst into the All-College party last Saturday night. Amidst the noise of victory the football heroes strode across the dance floor bearing upon their shoulders the long-lost Dragon sign, newly regained from Aberdeen.

For one long year since the Wolves swooped down upon it and bore it away to their den at Aberdeen, the Dragon sign has been cruelly separated from its Alma Mater. Now, however, it stands proudly in its home, while a wolf's head hangs dejectedly, shame-faced beside it.

Biology Department Head Will Address Students At Chapel

LOCAL BUSINESS MAN TO SPEAK NOVEMBER 8; COCHRAN READS PLAY

Mr. Ballard, head of the Biology department of this college, will address the chapel assembly next Wednesday, November 1, on the subject "The Mother Lode Country." A prominent Moorhead business man, Max Goldberg, will speak on "Wheat in the Markets of the World," in chapel two weeks hence, November 8.

I. M. Cochran, head of the public speaking department of Carleton College, received an ovation from the student body when he read Percival Wilde's one-act play, the "Finger of God" in chapel last Wednesday. Mr. Cochran, who has a national reputation as a lecturer and interpreter of plays, personified the three characters of the play without the aid of wigs, make-up, or costume.

Strickland, seemingly a hard, imitable business man around whom the plot centers, has made final arrangements to "skip out" with several hundred thousand dollars entrusted to him by innocent people to invest. Through a series of coincidents with his butler and his stenographer, Strickland becomes deeply impressed with the amount of confidence placed in him. In a very dramatic scene, he makes his choice to stay to "face the music," to become an honest man.

Vinette, Erickson, And Harris Lead Swimmers

Meet Will Be Held Once A Month, Say Physical Ed Heads

With Naomi Vinette the high point girl, and Walfred Erickson and Eugene Harris tying for high point honors among the men, the first monthly swimming meet held last Friday was a "splashing" success according to Miss Frick and Miss McKellar, who managed the affair.

Vinette piled up her points by placing first in the crawl stroke, surface dive and a part in the mixed relay. Erickson placed first in the mixed relay back crawl, second in the free style, surface dive, and plunge. Harris won his points in the crawl, back crawl, head-first and feet-first plunge.

To Be Regular Event
The meet, according to the heads of the Physical Education department, is to be held every month, with a "leather medal" going to the winner of each event and a "whale" to the high point boy and a "Jonah" to the high-point girl. At the end of a certain period of time to be determined by the officials, the high point people will be given some type of monogram.

The meet is open to anyone who cares to compete, but a charge of one cent is made for spectators, the proceeds going to buy coffee and doughnuts for the competitors.

Summary of Winners
Here are the events and winners of last week's contest: Men's events: free style—Price, first; Erickson, second; crawl—Price, first; Harris, second; back crawl—Erickson, first; Harris, second; surface dive—Hoag, first; Erickson, second; plunge—Harris, first; Price, second; feet-first plunge—Harris, first; Erickson, second.

In the women's contest the winners were free style—Radcliffe, first; Henderson, second; crawl—Vinette, first; Grover, second; back crawl, Radcliffe, first; Henderson, second; plunge—Henderson, first; Wimmer and Johnson tied for second; feet-first plunge—Vinette, first.

In the surface dive the winners were Vinette, Thortvedt, and Johnson. The winners of the mixed relay were Vinette, Erickson, Rafeld, and Price, while second for this event were Henderson, Prestegaard, Grover and Harris.

All students living in fraternity houses at Marquette University, Milwaukee, have their names, characteristics, and peculiarities listed with the police.

Ingleside, The College Social Room Where Alumni Will Meet

Here is Ingleside, the College social room, in which returning alumni will gather at various times during the Homecoming celebration to talk over "old times."

Dramatic Club Gives Two One-Act Plays

STUDENT DIRECTORS SUPERVISE PRODUCTION OF PLAYS GIVEN YESTERDAY

Exceptional dramatic ability was shown by members of the Dramatic Club who presented two one-act plays in the Auditorium last night. A large crowd enjoyed the program, which consisted of two plays, "The Wedding," by Kirkpatrick, directed by Gladys Flom, Devils Lake, and "Neighbors," by Zona Gale, directed by Berenice Cox, Moorhead, and music between acts furnished by the Music Department.

Dudley Lockrem acted his part very well as the bridegroom who could not find his collar button, and Vance Hallack, the best man who lost the ring, also was very good. Clara Jorgenson, the pretty bride; Ted, a friend, Adolph Sorenson; Aunt Julia, Elaine Cole; Alice's father William Wallace, and Dudley's mother, Alice French, also showed dramatic ability and played their parts very well.

The commonplace language of neighbors is featured in "Neighbors." Ada Thompson, as the domineering Mrs. Abel, influences her daughter Inez, Zurella Mural, that the shy and awkward Peter, Billy Mural, is "dumb." Through their bringing gifts to Carrie Ellsworth, Margaret Fugle, for a boy who is going to stay with her but does not come, Inez finds how much she cares for Peter. Even if the boy cannot come Mrs. Abel says he is responsible for many things he has never heard of, and Frances Olson, as the Grandma who knits and listens to the rest, agrees, "Yes, folks is folks." Leverett Hoag played his part well as the bossy Ezra Williams, and the two old maids, the complaining Miss Moran, played by Frances McKibbin, and the bustling Miss Trot, Dorothy Golden, were very interesting.

Claudette Colbert Stars In Picture At Moorhead

Claudette Colbert has been given a real chance to display her talents in her latest starring picture, "Torch Singer," which is showing at the Moorhead Theatre next Sunday. In the supporting cast are Ricardo Cortez, David Manners, and a number of other stars.

The picture is adapted from a magazine story by Grace Perkins and was directed by Alexander Hall and George Somnes. Ralph Rainger, composer of "Moanin' Low," has written several songs which Miss Colbert sings in this picture.

In the story Miss Colbert plays two definite personalities—a tender, loving mother—and a hard-hearted queen of the night clubs. The emotional climax gives her a real opportunity to show what she can really do with a good part.

Organization Of Men Discussed At Meeting

Committee Of Ten Selected To Investigate Pep Plans

The all-men's assembly held last Friday was two-fold in its purpose. A discussion was held first to decide on the possibility of having the men organized for certain problems that arise during the year. Dr. Lura was given power to select a committee to work with him in investigating the plan and drawing up, if needed, plans of the organization. Mr. Kise led the discussion during the remainder of the meeting in sounding the opinions of the men on better organization at the pep meetings and at the games, the plan of having all the men grouped together being stressed.

A committee of ten men consisting of Dudley Lockrem, Oliver Asp, Orvin Richardson, Joe Best, Tom Prickett, Walter Schultz, Carl Maedl, Ronald Gilbert, Rupert Krienbring, and Gordon Hanson was selected to investigate the plan and make a report as to its possibilities.

The meeting closed with an inspiring talk by Coach Nemzek and some College yells.

A big job was completed when the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas published a thousand-page volume on all the present known rock strata of that state.

KISSING 'NEATH A MUSTACHE

Oh, kind sir, what is the cause Of that fuzz upon your jaws. Can you tell me why you do it, When there is no beauty in it? Why you rim it—why you wax it? Handsome, really, he who lacks it. Kissing 'neath a stiff mustache Is a feat for maidens rash For it tickles and it scratches, Takes the lipstick off in batches; Leaves one's mouth all sore and red, Makes a kiss a thing to dread. Something should be done about it, For you're nicer, far, without it. —McGrann.
