Recognition Services Honor Prominent Students Monday

All Students Of College Are Eligible To Recognition In Nine Fields

The last chapel of the year will be in the nature of a special occasion—Recognition Day—to take place at 2 p. m. Monday, May 27. During the exercises students who have been outstanding during the year in any one of nine fields of curricular or extra-curricular endeavors—art, music, athletics, citizenship, dramatics, forensics, publications and creative writing, scholarship, and student teaching—are given recognition by the faculty. All students of the College are eligible to the honor.

The names of students were turned in by the various departments concerned, and a central committee of the faculty acted, by a process of recommendations, to eliminate duplications. Few students are honored more than once, and none more than twice. In all cases recognition takes account not only of brilliance but of perseverance and reliability, the committee pointed out.

Summer School Begins On Tuesday June, 11

Courses Are Selected To Satisfy Variety Of Needs And Interests

Registration for the six weeks' summer session at M. S. T. C. begins at 9 o'clock Monday morning, June 10. Regular classes begin June 11.

Courses selected for the summer school period will satisfy a wide variety of needs and interests, cultural and professional. Professional courses, offered especially to the experienced teacher, reveal trends and demands in modern education. For students who are primarily interested in earning their degrees, the two-year standard diploma, or a renewal of their elementary certificate, the regular constants are taught. Cultural opportunities are offered in the fields of music, art, and literature. Subjects are taught by regular members of the College teaching staff.

Famous Son to Speak

Samuel O. Elliot, son of the famous president of Harvard, will address the first chapel of the summer term June 12.

The Training School will be open during the summer school period. Miss Loudon and Miss Hawkinson will supervise. The number of student teaching assignments will be limited, however. The third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades are open in the elementary department. In the high school the subjects taught will be algebra, modern history, American history, ninth grade English and other subjects for which there is a demand.

Extensive Facilities

The school provides extensive recreational facilities. Tennis courts, an archery range, horseshoe courts, and the swimming pool are open to all summer school students. Camp Fire Girls' activities are also a part of the program. Regular physical education classes are offered to those students working for credit toward graduation. A special course in "School Festivals" is also offered.

Lyceum Numbers

Two lyceum numbers have been announced by Miss Hayes to take place during the summer session at the College.

On June 17, Harry Culbertson, Inc., will present Humperdinck's Fairy Opera, "Hansel and Gretel," with a five-player cast, and on July 8, Harry Tarbman, violinist, will appear. Mr. Tarbman has been touring South America and Europe for several years, and newspaper commentators are lavish in their praise of his accomplishments.

Helen Rauk, Jules Herman Are Presented In Recital

Helen Rauk and Jules Herman were presented in a musical recital in Weld Hall yesterday at 8:15 p. m. Miss Rauk, a pupil of Miss Eleanor Nesheim, performed on the piano, while Mr. Herman, a pupil of Mr. Preston, sang several tenor solos.

Heads Scout Work

Dr. C. P. Archer, head of the College education department, was re-elected district chairman.

Moorhead H. S. Band Performs In Chapel

Charles Hill, Cornet Soloist, Receives Enthusiastic Ovation

The chapel program Wednesday was a delightful performance by the Moorhead High School Band under the able direction of Mr. Elmer Uggen. The band has recently returned from the state contests in Minneapolis where it was the only class B group to be awarded a class A rating.

The band opened its program with "Herbert Clark's Triumphal March," following that number with a vital interpretation of the Overture to the opera "Martha." Charles Hill was accorded an enthusiastic ovation for his cornet solo, "Trees." The band entertained with a playful novelty, "Who's Next?" and concluded with selections from the popular "Merry Widow."

A short message by President MacLean preceded this part of the program, in which he extended to the graduates the best wishes of the College for their future success.

Faculty Men Will Address Schools

MacLean, Lura, Archer, Kise To Be Commencement Speakers

Mr. Kise will fill three speaking engagements at commencement exercises. He will go to Felton, Thursday, May 30; to McHenry, N. D., Friday, May 31; and to Amenia, N. D., Monday, June 3. Mr. Kise will also speak at the Memorial Day program at Hawley at 2 p. m.

Schwendeman Postpones Summer Tour To Mexico

Mr. Schwendeman has been forced to abandon his plans of a geography tour to Mexico this summer because, although the new Pan-American highway will be opened June 15, tourists will have to camp out at night. It would be impossible for the geography tour to carry camping equipment, so the trip had to be postponed until a time when hotel accommodations are available. Mr. Schwendeman received his information from a report by the manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Laredo, Mexico.

Swing-Out, "Annual," Alumni Ball, To Be Held Monday June 3

Alumni Ball For Faculty, Alumni, And Seniors Features 14-Piece Band

"Swing-Out," the "Annual," and the Alumni Ball, compose the busy round of commencement activities scheduled for Monday, June 3.

The "Swing-Out" program given by the Juniors in honor of the graduating class will begin at 9:30 a. m., with the planting of the ivy by the Seniors.

Planting Rites at 9:30

The procession, led by Alwin Cocking and Vernon Schranz, presidents of the Seniors and Juniors, respectively, will march from Weld Hall to the northwest corner of MacLean Hall where the ceremony will take place. The program includes: A poem, "On Planting the Ivy," by Rudolph Bergstrom; the planting of the ivy; speech of presentation by Alwin Cocking; acceptance by Vernon Schranz; and "Amici," played by a brass quartet.

Mabel Peoples, Herbert Lange, Florence Williams, and Walter Severson are the members of the general committee in charge of the "Swing-Out" program that will begin at 10 a. m. in the Auditorium. "The Spirit of the West," a three-act playlet, and the Lantern Ceremony in charge of Signe Olson, feature the program.

Alumni Banquet

The program for the "Annual," a dinner to be attended by faculty members as well as the Alumni and Seniors, is being kept a big secret, but the committee promises one that "will dispel any dampening of spirits caused by the spring rains." Comstock Hall is the scene, and 6:15 p. m. the time of the festivities. The alumni election will be held at this dinner.

Music by the 14-piece Crystall Ballroom Orchestra will feature the Alumni Ball, which begins immediately after the dinner, according to Chet Gilpin, dance chairman. Alumni, faculty, Seniors, Juniors, and their guests will be in attendance. Mr. Weltzin is in general charge of the alumni events.

CORRECTION

In addition to the two-year graduates listed in last week's MISTIC, there are eleven others whose names were omitted by mistake. They are: Lyla Gravgaard, Alice Rundquist, Lempie Salo, Eula Tye, Alice Tweeten, Martha Wade, Irene Wicklund, Esther Witamaki, Woodrow Wilson, Marion Wiste, and Albin Zabrocki.

Mozart. Reverend S. J. Hedelund of St. John's Episcopal church will give the invocation.

MacLean Confers Degrees

The commencement invocation will be given by Rev. George E. Field of Ogema, father of Gwendolyn Field, who is one of the graduating Sophomores. Gosslee, resident director of the College, will present the diplomas and President R. B. MacLean will grant the degrees.

They are: Vincent Schneider, Maynard Tvedt, John Chisholm, Marcus Gordon, Signe Olson, Clara Jorgenson, Clara Carter, Robert Marquardt, Frances Olson, Walter Severson, Ross Stephens, Edna Johnson, Milton Hollister, Herbert Lange, Margaret Fuglie, and Lucille Weir.

Match Factories

ACCORDING to some of our more romantic instructors one of the primary purposes of college is match-making. It is not our purpose to question this statement as it stands, but we do maintain that college is not a match factory.

In this industrial era, the theory of mass production has at times been extended to include our educational institutions. Many people (alas, even some college students) have come to think of a college course as a stereotyped factory plan which produces a uniform product—like a match factory which turns out countless "fire-sticks" all the same length, the same thickness, and having a uniform head.

This attitude is illustrated by the students who are here merely to get through in the easiest possible way. They find it easier to accept the ideas presented by instructors or by books without making the mental exertion of thinking for themselves. By so doing they lose the characteristics which mark them as individuals—that inexplicable personality which distinguishes leaders from the masses.

And so, without trying to discredit Cupid's activities on the campus, we believe that college should develop self-reliant, capable leaders—not "matches."

—M. T.

The Scholar's Place

A METROPOLITAN newspaper columnist pauses to remark that students should attend to their "reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic, and let others adjust the affairs of the world." The way out of our economic difficulties is "not likely to be found by college boys and girls," he declares.

Belittlement of the student is a conventional pastime with those who would defend the stagecoach economic faith. "Practical problems of the world can only be solved by the hands of experienced men in business," they say. "Mere book learning should keep its place behind cloistered academic walls."

True, the college student is probably incapable of reforming the world, but if he is to be discouraged on every turn from taking part in the solution of social problems, there is small hope that he will be of much use as a citizen. Yes, parts of our education are bookish and theoretical, but if the scholarly approach to social situations is to be ridiculed, there is small hope for an intelligent organization of our economic processes.

Commencement

WITH THE conferring of degrees and diplomas June 4 the College bids farewell to 54 Seniors and over a hundred graduating Sophomores, who supposedly are to "commence" facing life. The world they face is neither the one that waits with open arms, as the pre-depression orators painted it, nor the despondent world weighed down with depression pessimism.

"It is an age of opportunity," the Moorhead Daily News declares, editorially, "for it cannot be denied that the leaders of any given generation have almost always come up out of an age of adversity. Those whose faith in the future was strong, who were not deterred by obstacles, have laid the foundations for success while others were bemoaning their lack of opportunity.

"If fate has ordered the beginning of their adulthood to coincide with an era of hard times, it has also 'tempered the wind to the shorn lamb' by removing strong competitors from the field. . . . A post-depression era is an ideal setup for the energy of youth, provided their sense of perspective has not been lost."

It's Done

WHEN IN the course of human events it becomes necessary for an editorial staff to pass on the duties, opportunities—and tribulations—to its successors, it is customary for the editor to wax eloquent in recounting the accomplishments and bemoaning the shortcomings of the year.

But we're going to skip all that and just say that we're glad for the experience and glad that it's done. We'll let others pass judgment—and hope that it will be tempered with charity.

Scribe Finds Difference Between A Holy Senior And A Lowly Frosh

By MIBS PEOPLES

WHAT IS the difference between a holy senior and a lowly freshman? We mungled it over for a while, then asked a freshman. It might have been a Slop. The answer was unintelligible. We stood over the frosh and dug a toffee bar and five caramels out of his mouth, wiped his chin, and blew the crumbs off his necktie. He spoke.

He said seniors were more cautious. A senior would be eating only a toffee bar and four caramels. He snapped his suspenders. It was too much. . . . Later they found his remains folded up in that bookcase-on-wheels that the librarian trundles around. (That was my idea, if I do say it.) The investigation went on.

ALAS, THE only soph we could find was that pink-haired ping-ponger. He was devouring a book. The last corner of it was disappearing as we rode up in our new 1935 Chase and Sanborn stream-lined Coca Cola. "The difference between a freshman and a senior," he brayed dramatically, "is in the headsize. The senior's is larger." Curtain. We looked skeptically at his head and murmuring, "of course, of course," we backed away confusedly and started looking for a junior.

WE COULD not find one. Someone said they saw one last fall around Thanksgiving time but it might have been a Cobber in disguise. Is there no junior class at M. S. T. C.? Yes, but no juniors. Either they are sophs or seniors or indifferent. However, the juniors might have been playing tennis, or at the club, or practicing their piccolo.

We addressed our question to the empty air and got for an answer an ancient grapefruit in the solar plexus. Ah, youth! Oh, the beautiful spirit of youth in the training school! They need no target practice.

SENIORS! We stalked them day and night but not one would speak to us except as a grandparent. That's right; Betty Brown giggled, and Al gave us his blackest look. The others without exception were grandparents. Then one day we found one. "What," we asked wearily, "is the difference between a senior and a freshman?" From a great height it opened its mouth. We were overwhelmed by such majestic graciousness.

"A senior," he said, "is an ephemeral abstraction with certain granite qualities instilled by four years of merciless experience. A freshman is an ephemeral abstraction with gelatine-like qualities instilled by nothing at all. Seniors may be characterized as a paving block, and freshmen as a bowl of raspberry Jello." Jittering slightly, we took down his words.

"WHO," we asked a faculty member, "is that senior we were just talking to?" "Senior!" snorted the faculty member, who was a snorter from 'way back, "that's no senior, that's Rodger." The Investigation Committee has given up journalism and is going to run away to sea and be a sailor.

National Merry-go-Round

An Analysis and Interpretation of the Highlights Occurring in the Week's News
By Maynard Tvedt

UNLESS THE League of Nations can check developments in its present session, it seems inevitable that Italy and Ethiopia will come to armed conflict. Mussolini has publicly declared that if he desires to wage war no one can stop him and so Europe hesitates to take any decisive step. The rainy season, which will last until September, seems to be the chief factor in preventing immediate hostilities.

MRS. ANNE MORROW LINDBERGH, aviator-poet, has entered a new field of endeavor by writing the story of her air jaunt to the Orient four years ago. The book will be published this fall.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT displayed real courage in his stand against the bonus. We agree that the principle of need should govern the distribution of government funds but who doesn't need a thousand dollars or so? The president must point to more substantial reasons for non-payment if he hopes to have his veto sustained by the senate.

WITH THE death of Marshal Pilsudski, dictator of Poland, the political stability of Europe becomes even more precarious. Poland, under Pilsudski's guidance, has maintained a neutral position between France and Germany. The attitude which Pilsudski's successors take will be of vital interest to the world.

It has been done at the University of Michigan (Ann Arbor). They have traced the "happiness curve" of students through the week, to determine just when they feel high and when low. They found (and we could have told them) that the happiness scale reaches its height on Saturday evening and its greatest depth early Monday morning. Greatest cause for sadness is poor grades, and as to causes of poor grades—84 attributed them to carelessness, 58 to lack of time, and 28 to lack of ability.

Senator Huey P. Long held a 2-1 lead over the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin and William Randolph Hearst in a recent "unpopularity contest" at the University of Illinois (Urbana).

Raising chickens in their rooms is the latest fad of students at Marshall College (Huntington, W. Va.).

Half the students at Ohio Wesleyan University (Delaware) who cut classes do it because they want to sleep. Other favorite reasons: Fear of quizzes, and studying for exams. But why cut if you can sleep in class?

"Apple-polishing" is the reason girls get better grades than men, one faculty member at Texas Technical College (Lubbock) believes.

Rules are rules at Ohio State University (Columbus).

There was a big blaze in the women's dormitory there, and firemen found the charred end of a cigarette at the spot where the fire begun. But the University rules say there can be no smoking in the dormitory. A nice problem.

So the official report attributes the fire to a "cigarette which blew into the building."

Research into the archives at Purdue University (Lafayette, Ind.) reveal that the Purdue charter states that there must be on the board of regents, "One farmer, one woman, and one person of good moral character."

We admit it—this column is a sucker for surveys of every description, but now we give up. The millenium in surveys has arrived and we feel too faint to go on.

Regional H. S. Track Meet To Be Held Here Tomorrow

Coaching Class Will Be In Charge; Scheela Will Be Chief Field Judge

The Regional High School track meet takes place tomorrow at Memorial field with the winners of the district meets in the fourth region competing. The men's coaching class of this College will be in charge of events.

During the morning, the preliminary running of the dashes will take place and the finals will be completed in the afternoon.

Several high schools boast excellent track teams, notably Fergus Falls, Brainerd and Crosby-Ironton. Brainerd appears to have the edge over the other contestants in the number of men entered in the regional meet. Gale, of Fergus Falls, who won five firsts in the district meet, appears as an individual threat.

The regional meets are always gala affairs, with parents of the sprinters mingling with the college spectators. High school marks will be in danger when the best of the track men from the various schools will battle to better the existing records.

Among the officials, Mr. Charles Green and Mr. B. D. Murray, of the College faculty, will be honorary judges. Walter Scheela will be in charge as chief field judge. Referee and starter assignments go to Charley Kimball. Other events are in charge of various men from the coaching class.

Sophs And Juniors Win In First D-Ball Games

The Juniors and the Sophomores emerged victorious in the inter-class diamond ball tournament which got under way this week. The Sophs won from the Frosh in a wild fray that wound up in a score reminiscent of the basketball season, 23-18.

The Seniors met the Juniors in a game which started out as a hard-fought duel but ended in a walkaway for the Juniors. The final score was 21-8 for the Juniors, who will meet the Sophs for the championship Tuesday.

Both games revealed some potential stars, so any way you look at it, things look plenty dark for the faculty who are to meet the winners in the grand finale.

Dragon Tennis Team Defeats Wahpeton 4-1

Lose To Jamestown; Enter Conference Tournament Wednesday

Dragon netters broke even in their last two matches, losing to Jamestown 4-2 and winning from Wahpeton 4-1. With the Moorhead team badly off form against Jamestown last Saturday, the Jimmies had a comparatively easy time in coming out on top. The Jimmies won all the singles; Schouer defeated Cocking, Peterson defeated Rowan, Dressler defeated Lange, and Eastman defeated Logee. In the doubles Schouer and Peterson defeated Cocking and Rowan 6-3, 9-7, but Eastman and Lange won from Dressler and Logee 7-5, 7-5, for the Dragons' only win.

At Wahpeton Monday afternoon the Dragon netmen encountered tough opposition, with Cocking's and Eastman's tilts running up into the marathons, Cocking finally nosed out Adams 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, and Eastman came up from behind to out-steady Carrhart 3-6, 6-3, 10-8. Rowan easily turned back Schaltz 6-1, 6-1, but Stevenson lost to Ross 6-1, 6-3. In the doubles match, Cocking and Rowan coasted through the first set 6-1 and faltered to lose the second 6-3. In the third and final set, Wahpeton ran their lead up to 5-2 in games before the Dragon duo started clicking and took five straight games to run the set out in their favor, 7-5.

Next Wednesday afternoon the tennis team will leave for St. Cloud to participate in the annual conference tournament. The Dragon squad, yet undefeated in conference competition, will stand an excellent chance of coming out in front.

The hit of the athletic carnival whoopla was the masterful exhibition of Skipper "Sliv" and his pal, "Smithy" Sullivan, in table tennis.

We thought at first that ping-pong was a sort of parlor mania but after peeking at the lofty enthusiasm during the progress of the game it virtually puts the players in a class with college football players who like their competition garnished with glory.

A ping-pong player, so it appeared, must be pampered and petted, coddled and cavorted with at all times, to keep him in a humor to properly spank the elusive ball.

When "Smithy" served "Sliv" stands motionless and erect. He looks with cold, clammy indifference on the scene of battle.

But when he makes a point the Skipper is as tickled as an old maid with her first beau.

Dragon Track Squad Leaves Today For Conference Meet

Rife, Burke, Harris And Johnson To Represent The College

Tomorrow in the University of Minnesota stadium the Dragons will be represented by a picked squad of trackmen to participate in the annual Minnesota College Conference track and field meet. Orrin Rife, Bill Burke, Gene Harris, and Elmer Johnson, accompanied by Coach Nemzek, and Mr. Schwendeman, faculty director, leave today to compete in the meet.

Last year Wilbur Bailey and Gene Harris came back from the conference meet with medals for taking firsts in the discus and the half-mile, respectively. They both broke previous Conference records. Whether the present group can do as well remains to be seen. Harris has been doing the half-mile consistently in good time and should come close to his old mark and perhaps will even eclipse his own record. Rife has been showing up well in the dash, as has Burke. Johnson competes in the hurdles and weight events.
