Countess, Duke Good.

Olivia, the very proud and haughty countess, played the aristocratic lady exceptionally well and made a strik ing stage appearance. Clarence Gludt, as the love-sick Duke, portrayed with good dignity a nice picture of Orsino.

The minor situations in the play equalled the interest and merit of this main plot, because of the splendid acting of Sir Toby, Sir Andrew, Malvolio, Maria, the Fool, the Sea Captain, and Fabian.

Sir Toby Entertains.

Sir Toby, Ralph Smith, captured the audience immediately by his perfect rendition of the drunken, hilarious and quite human nobleman. Sir Andrew, Otis Botts, also furnished a humorous touch in the way of a contrast to Sir Toby, while Fabian, Leland Vinz, lent still another touch as the fun-loving friend. All had the attention of the audience, even when they spoke on lines; quite a tribute to their skill in silent interpretation.

Malvolio, Allen Erickson, even to his smile, was excellent in his rendering of the character of the hypocritical steward to Olivia. The part played in a charming manner.

Fool Well Played.

PEDS THREATEN TO WIN CLOSE TILT WITH VALLEY CITY CONTINGENT

(By Ralph Smith)

In the finale of the '28-'29 basket ball season the Peds bowed to the Vikings, at the Armory Thursday evening, March 1. The 32-26 score doesn't indicate exactly the closeness of the contest. In the closing minutes the boys from Valley City amassed their lead by some well executed heaves from mid-court.

The game started off with a bang as Vic Anderson tossed an accurate heave from the foul circle to start the Peds off with a lead. There was no difference in the two teams during the first half. The period ended with the score knotted at 17 all.

WAMBACH LEADS CRIMSON PUCK-STERS IN 4-1 VICTORY IN LAST MATCH

Playing the last game of the season the Ped hockey team last Friday turned in a good victory over the Cobbers, the score being 4 to 1. This made two victories in as many contests with the Concordia pucksters.

The game started out fast and furious and remained so during the first Wambach brothers were playing against each other and both were put out of the game twice. The score at the half was 2 to 1 for the Peds.

The second half was just as interesting as the first. With Wambach and Davis carrying the brunt of the atack, they were able to score two goals to none for the Cobbers.

For the Peds, Lottie Wambach and Lyman Davis were outstanding, but the work of the rest of the team must not be forgotten, everyone turning in a good game. Lerberg and Rene Wambach looked the best for the in charge of the girls.

WORLD - FAMED ORGANIZATION, CONDUCTOR IS NOTABLE ATTRACTION

The Minneapolis Symphony Orches tra, directed by Henri Verbruggen and accompanied by the noted tenor George Meader, is to appear twice in concert at the College on May 6 as the final attraction of the annual Arts Festival, it was announced yesterday by Mr. Christensen, chairman of the lyceum committee.

This event, with perhaps the exception of the Sousa Concert in Fargo last fall, is without doubt the great est attraction to make the two cities in several years. The Minneapolis Symphony is giving a concert in Win nipeg and one in Grand Forks, M. S. T.C. being the only other stop of this tour.

THE ORCHESTRA

Besides the play itself last Saturday evening, there was another pleasing feature, the orchestra. Many guests have voiced their compliments to the orchestra with the result that we wonder if this orchestra could not be made a permanent organization of the College.

The orchestra was made up entirely of members of the College student body and faculty. They had practice only for about a week before the class play. With a more secure organization what are the possibilities of this group?

While we do not mean to depreciate that other musical body, the band, an orchestra is capable of offering a type of music which is impossible where the stringed instruments are missing. Why not add another musical organization to those fine ones of which we may now boast?

A spring concert by this orchestra would be an artistic treat, worthy of consideration.

TEACHERS COLLEGE RATES HIGH (From the Moorhead News)

A weekly newspaper published by Moorhead State Teachers College every Friday of the college year. Printed in the College Print Shop, and issued at the College.

Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice at Moorhead, Minnesota. Subscription price, activity fee to students; all others $1.50 a year (includes summer term).

The State Teachers College of Moorhead, with other State Teachers Colleges in this state has a "Class A" rating. This puts it at the top of the list when it comes to the standing of colleges. And such a rating is very pleasing to the people of Moorhead and the territory served by the College. The State Teachers College of Moorhead, with other State Teachers

With such a standing the College is as well equipped to educate students as any other similar institution in the state. Students need not look afield; they can stay right at home or near home and graduate from a college whose status is as high as that of any other similar institution in Minnesota.

If the deficiency in equipment is corrected by the granting of the appropriation for a physical education and class room building the local college will be as well equipped as colleges located in larger centers. This need is all the more clearly defined in the light of the rating of the college. That it has been able to achieve such a standing despite limitations imposed by Associate Editor conditions over which it has no control is to the credit of those who preside over its affairs and give their attention to its welfare.

I did then make my way to the College Coffee Shoppe where I beheld Sir George Simson engaged in a deadly duel of checkers. He had his victim at sword's point, so to speak, and could have finished him off with a neat parry and thrust, but no-he must needs experiment with some new play, much to the opponent's discomfiture and disapproval.

As I watched Sir Goerge deliberating over his next move, my mind did and what we did learn of transfer of did conclude that the training Sir He mentions the names of three George received playing checkers My teacher does not answer, I fear other former M. School where we work all day With not enough of play, Yet we are sometimes gay Heigh lo, heigh lee!

The girls are fair and sweet, The young men can't be beat, (Save in basketball.) The teachers, kind and good. For right have always stood, And helped us all they could. I praise them all.

When we from here depart, Twill be with heavy heart, At leaving thee.

Keeping the goal in sight, We'll battle for the right, And keep thy memory bright,

THE WIND AND I (By F. G.)

When night comes down And the wind begins to rise find a sense of untold joy Springing deep within my heart.

I fain would leave the shelter of my house

And run with face uplifted, arms flung wide,

To gather close about me Some small part of that wild creatures' madness.

Then again, the wind grows menacing Because of good work faithfully done. I dare not step outside my door E'en tho' she lears and beckons eagerly.

I know her tricks-I will not go!

So I sit by my cozy fireside And watch the flickering flames, While the wind howls and whispers, And calls me terrible names!

BRODINE'S TEAM LEADS TOURNEY

The Wednesday game of the Women's basketball tourney between the Sonhomore Outside and Brodine's team and won by Brodine by a score The Placement Bureau of 33 to 14, practically cinches the pennant for the latter team.

Speed and clean play characterized the Sophomore Outside, was unable to count in the scoring, being effectively covered by Dale Ross. Berg and Brodine did some good passing.

During the first half, Brodine's team made 8 of the 10 free throws given them, a record not to be scoffed at by any team.
