ENROLLMENT IS NEAR 500 MARK

SOPHS LEAD IN NUMBERS WITH
232; 103 ARE OUT FOR DEGREES

With registration practically completed the total number of students attending the College has reached 486. A few more will be enrolling to bring the total up to or very nearly up to last year's all time record of 508. These students are the representatives of four states of the Union and 32 counties of Minnesota. There are 463 students from Minnesota, 70 from North Dakota, 9 from South Dakota, and 4 from Montana. For the first time in many years the Sophomores outnumber the Freshmen by a count of 232 to 203. Forty Juniors and eleven Seniors complete the season's total, thus setting a record for the upper classes enrolled for campus work.

With 103 students registered for the degree course, the number of four-year students shows a marked increase over previous years. The enrollment according to counties is as follows: Clay, 79; Ottertail, 45; Becker, 31; Norman, 30; Pork, 30; Wilkin, 17; Big Stone, 15; Pennington, 14; Grant, 13; Traverse, 12; Kittson, 12; Lac Qui Parle, 11; Marshall, 10; Stevens, 7; Pope, 6; Red Lake, 5; Yellow Medicine, 4; Roseau, 4; Douglas, 3; Chippewa, 2; Wadena, 2; Lake of the Woods, 2; Hennepin, 2; Redwood, 1; Lyon, 1; McLeod, 1; Goodhue, 1; Brown, 1; Lincoln, 1; Cass, 1.

STUDENT STAFFS NEARLY COMPLETE

PRAECEPTOR ART EDITOR NEEDED, HOWEVER; FRESHMEN SHOW TALENT

As a result of the publications try-outs held last week, The MISTIC staff is now practically complete. Headed by Donald Bird, Detroit Lakes, the masthead contains four special contributors: Raymond Simonitsch, Moorhead; Anna Braaten, Moorhead; Vera Murray, White Rock, S. D., and Eleanor B. Sherman, Fergus Falls. Three of these were on the Freshman MISTIC staff of last spring, and Miss Braaten, who will take Training School news, was last year secretary of the Training School.

Of the Journalism class, which will be a part of the staff, there is William Stevenson, Moorhead, veteran sports writer of the last two years; Gertrude Peterson, Hillsboro, N. D.; Patrick Hewitt, Chokio; Donald Bird, Doris and Dorothy Flatner, Beaudette, all of last spring's Freshman staff; Clarence Glasrud, Detroit Lakes; Donald Ingram, Humboldt; Lucille Mayer, Fargo; Bernice Kravik, Madison; and Edith Swanson, Lake Park.

A few up have been named to a reserve staff, and may earn places on the staff by their contributions. In addition a Freshman reserve staff has been designated, this group to be the nucleus of the annual spring Freshman issue. In this group are a number of experienced students, many of them having been editor-in-chief of their respective high school papers.

Artists to Try Out.

A tentative staff has also been made out for the 1931 Praeceptor, yearbook of the College. It is thought that this will be completed for announcement next week. While made up chiefly of upperclassmen, this group will include a few Freshman assistants. An art editor is still needed for the Praeceptor, however. Anyone interested should see Mr. Murray in the next two or three days to get material for the tryouts. Students of the art classes are especially invited to enter the competition, which will be an interesting one, since the winning student will shape the theme of the book. Mr. Murray, faculty adviser of publications, expressed himself as well pleased with the tryouts.

NOTICE, ALUMNI!

The mailing list of The MISTIC has not been completed at this time. We wish every alumnus who has paid his life membership would please notify us of any change in address. This may be done by writing the Publication Manager of The MISTIC.

College High Girl Is Prize Speller

Instructors in the College High School will find at least one new pupil whose spelling will give them no trouble or worry. Miss Annabelle Kreps, who last year attended the Clearview school, was one of two pupils representing Clay county at the Minnesota State Fair Spelling Contest last week. Miss Kreps came back to Moorhead with the title of "The Second Best Speller in the State of Minnesota."

COMMISSION HAS CHAPEL PROGRAM

COMMISSIONERS RELATE COLLEGE ACTIVITY; STATE QUALIFICATIONS

Relating the qualifications necessary to become a member of the organizations under his commission, each student committee head addressed the chapel assembly on Wednesday as a part of a program staged by the Student Commission for the benefit of all students not familiar with the activities of the campus. Lyman Davis, Forensics Commissioner, opened the educational program with an explanation of debate activity, dramatics, and the four literary societies. He was followed by Gordon Grina, head of the social commission, who enlightened the new students regarding membership in the Omicron, Gamma Nu, Pi Mu Phi, and the various classes.

The journalistic activities of the College were next brought forward in the form of The MISTIC, College newspaper, and Praeceptor, College yearbook, by Donald Bird, acting Commissioner of Publicity. Helen Lincoln discoursed upon the jurisdiction of the Education committee which includes the French Club, Pi Delta Sigma, Nancio, Kappa Pi, Lambda Phi, Geography Club, Althalia, Art Club, Country Life Club, and Country Fire.

The Religious Commission, headed by R. K. Hundebly has charge of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., whose ranks are always open for new members.

"THE DROP KICK" MAY APPEAR HERE

To help raise money to defray Homecoming expenses this year, a series of four moving pictures will be presented at the College auditorium, beginning on Monday, September 22. The first program will probably consist of a five-reel feature picture "The Drop Kick," starring Richard Barthelme, and "Felix Broadcasting," an animated cartoon comedy. The names of the three other pictures to be presented in the weeks following will be announced later on when they have been definitely decided upon.

According to estimates, between three and four hundred dollars will have to be raised to pay for the cost of broadcasting, to replace banners and decorations destroyed by the fire, and to provide for other events of the celebration.

CHOIRS AND BANDS OPEN MUSIC YEAR

As the commencement of the year's musical activities Mr. Preston called for Choir and Glee Club tryouts last Friday. One hundred twenty students responded to the call, twenty-seven of which are former members, including thirteen boys.

Within the past week the Band has organized, the Radio Girls have commenced their practice, and the Junior High Band has had its first meeting. The College Band personnel of twenty-six pieces is given in detail in another story. Its director assures the public that the band is to be better than ever this year.

The Radio Girls Club under the direction of Miss Wenck commence their season of concerts tonight at 7:00 p. m. over WDAY, Fargo. A series of College concerts is planned for the entire year. The hour from 7:00 to 8:00 on Friday evenings is M. S. T. C. hour, during which the various musical organizations and other College talent demonstrate their skill before the "Mike."

On Wednesday, Oscar Thompson, director of the Junior High Band, called the first band practice of this year.

WILL YOU HELP?

Some time in October a Stunt Night will be held to raise money to defray the expenses of Homecoming. On that night each society will stage a stunt which it has developed in secret session for the entertainment of all those who pay to see it.

It can be made a success, but with the support of all of the societies. Without your backing and participation we cannot have such a night. All society presidents are asked to notify me before Saturday, September 20, as to whether your society will take part.

Secretary-Treasurer,
Student Commission.

BUREAU PLACES 140 GRADUATES

MANY MORE IN RURAL SCHOOLS
UNREPORTED MAKES PERCENTAGE HIGH

One hundred forty graduates out of one hundred seventy desiring jobs, placed in positions by the College Bureau and many more placed but unreported—that is a record which M. S. T. C. can be proud of. In spite of the supposed scarcity of positions in the teaching field considerably more than 80 per cent of last spring's graduating class were placed. The number of districts applying and the wide distribution of the graduates pays tribute to the worth and efficiency of the College courses.

Following is the complete list of placements for the year 1929-1930: Ila Aamoth, Albert Lea, rural; Amanda Aarestad, Granger, Iowa; Alma Aker, Echo, S. D.; Grace Anderson, Wadena, rural; Olive Anderson, Lake Park, rural; Lulu Asleson, Eldred, Ill.; Jessie Barlow, Vining, S. Monday evening the Board held a dinner in honor of Dr. Charles H. Cooper, who is retiring president of the Mankato Teachers College.

21 VETERANS OUT FOR DRAGON TEAM

SQUAD, LARGEST IN COLLEGE
HISTORY, HAS WEALTH OF MATERIAL

The squad of 32 veterans and freshmen who turned out last Monday in brand new uniforms to greet Coach Alex (Sliv) Nemzek for the opening of the football season, not only constituted the largest group in the history of the College, but they appeared to possess experience and weight such as has seldom been seen on Memorial Field.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

- Sept. 27 — Bemidji Teachers College, there.
- Oct. 4—Valley City Teachers College, here.
- Oct. 11 — Concordia College, here.
- Oct. 18—N. D. School of Science, Wahpeton.
- Oct. 22—Minot Teachers College, here. (Morning game.)
- Nov. 1—N. D. State College, Fargo.
- Nov. 8—Jamestown College, here. (Homecoming.)

Headed by Captain Ross Ireland of Manhattan, Mont., the squad included 16 lettermen, 4 reserves of last year, and 12 freshmen, all out to battle for places on the Dragon team, defending champions of the Interstate conference. The coach outlined training procedure and gave the men drill in fundamentals Monday; since that time he has held chalk talks, given out plays, and worked the men in teams.

A wealth of material seems to be on hand for both the backfield and the line, with the freshmen threatening veterans for positions. Of last year's ball carriers, Bill Robinson of Manhattan, Mont.; Lyman Davis of Frazee, and John Ingersoll, retiring captain, are back, as well as Obert Dahl, Dilworth; Herman Krajeck, Wheaton, and Henry Reugamer, Manhattan, Mont. Vic Anderson, Moorhead, quarterback of '28, is also on deck.

In the line, Herb Moberg, Moorhead; Art Simon, Wheaton; Obert Nelson, Moorhead; "Cy" Biefeldt, Moorhead; Henry Booher, Manhattan, Mont.; Bill Davis, Frazee; Dick Richardson, Rosholt, S. D., and Walter Fogel, Dilworth, are veterans of last year. Ross Ireland, Detroit Lakes, end on the '28 team, is back in school.

Frosh Blossom as the Grass in Spring; Sophs Offer Timely Advice on Subject

On September 19 all Freshmen who aspired to remain in good standing began to wear their green caps or berets. According to the Student Commission these head coverings are to be worn on and off the campus every day until nine o'clock at night. It is thought that by that hour all freshmen should be donning night caps. Sundays have been set aside as a day of rest for the caps and berets, since the Student Commission is taking the trusting view that all Freshies will be attending church most of that day.

The Sophomore class, always suspicious, wishes it to be known that any Freshman who does not follow the rules will be duly prosecuted. Exactly what is in store for anyone so foolish as to disobey the rules has not been made known. However, the very fact that it is kept a secret seems to give the affair a dire aspect. The days of the guillotine have passed, of course, but modern inventions may be worse.

Green is a very becoming color for a Freshman. It seems that there is harmony in the combination. Some feel that a head covering for Freshies is a protection for them from marauding woodpeckers. By this one may easily see that the Sophomores have only the good of the beginners in mind and are really concerned about their welfare.

The Freshies are advised to get their caps and berets extra large, for they are to be worn next spring. The optimistic view is taken that by that time a lump of knowledge will have appeared.

PURCHASE OF SIX RESIDENCES AND EXCHANGE BY STATE ALSO ASKED

Seven hundred sixty-five thousand dollars was recommended by the State Teachers College Board at a special session held in St. Paul on August 13 for the erection of three buildings on the College campus to replace those lost by fire. A tentative main building with a wing for physical education activities and a wing for a library to be built at a cost of $420,000, would constitute the major portion of the sum asked. $220,000 will probably be used for replacement of adequate housing for the Training School, and the remaining $125,000, it is planned, is to be expended for a new heating plant.

Besides the new construction, the Board recommended the purchase of the six houses in which the Training School is now situated and the land on which they rest at an approximate cost of $27,600. They further recommended that the state take over the Students Exchange from the alumni and students at a cost of $6,000. Thus, the entire project would involve an expenditure of about $797,600.

The building project itself will probably not be begun until some time next spring, pending the action of the legislature.

LELAND STANFORD, HERE
NEXT YEAR

The School for Athletic Coaches recently sponsored on the campus by Alex J. Nemzek, College director of athletics, as the fourth of the four features of the past summer school, proved to be such a success that it is planned to make it an annual affair. Next year Coach Nemzek hopes to bring Glenn S. (Pop) Warner of Leland Stanford University to M. S. T. C. as football instructor for the course, and has already heard favorably from the famous California mentor.

This year's school was held from August 25 to September 1, and 59 were enrolled, 14 of whom were graduates or students of the College. The course attracted several from distant states, but the larger part were former athletes at local colleges. FRESHMEN, WELCOME TO M. S. T. C.!

The halls and corridors of our College again resound to the tramp of many feet and the babble of numerous voices. New and unfamiliar faces greet the veterans on returning.

You new students, numbering over two hundred, consist of many who but three short months ago were presented with your sheepskin in some high school graduating class. Many of you have gone from home for the first time to carve a career for yourselves in the indelible annals of time.

You young men and women represent four states of the Union and thirty-three counties of Minnesota. From North, South, East and West, you have traveled many miles to further your education here.

To all of you we extend a hearty welcome to this institution and its activities. We welcome you as a symbol of the progress of education. You constitute a living reply to the desire of the multitude for learning.

We hope that while here you will indulge in some of the many activities which are fostered by this College. Forensics, athletics, music, journalism, and dramatics present ample opportunity all to satisfy their ambitions and strive for their ends.

In welcoming each new student, we hope and expect that they will encourage and sustain those traditions for which this College was founded and which, having been fostered through the years, exemplify the secret of our progress and our rank.

-D. B.

SUPPORT THE MISTIC

With this issue we are introducing to some two hundred students The MISTIC, the voice of the College. The MISTIC is a weekly paper written, printed, and circulated by the students. Its success as a College publication depends upon each one of you.

You say that the paper's success or failure depends upon the quality and efficiency of the staff. In saying that you forget the cooperation of the entire student body and faculty without which this paper cannot be a success.

The Open Column and Feature Section are always open to contribution. Your feelings expressed in words may thus be circulated for the benefit of all. This holds true whether they be serious or comic.

Remember our goal is All-American honors this year! Do your bit! The success of this paper depends upon you!!

Shepherders' Special Breezes in from Montana Wilds; Chevy Cools Bill's Head

What was all the excitement about a week ago Tuesday? Did we all see it? With baggage piled high on the historic Chevrolet, "Bill", "Cy", "Hank" and "Hank" rode into town as though they were ready for a month's siege.

"Hank" Ruegamer, "Hank" Booher, and "Cy" Bielfeldt left the territory of Manhattan Friday before last. They went to Yellowstone where they picked up "Bill" Robinson, who had been driving in the Park all summer.

spring. It looks as if they might have come through a hailstorm and—well, ask "Hank" Ruegamer about the rest.

Well, we're glad to see the "Montana Specials" back even if "Hank" Booher did look a bit sleepy when he first arrived. Did you notice "Bill's" haircut, girls? I suppose we'll have to stand looking at it day after day until it grows out again.

Who said the boys weren't up to date with their motley Chevrolet? They're not out of paint yet, either. "Hank" Ruegamer said they added a little art work every time they stopped on the road.

GAMES, STUNTS FEATURE PARTY

The annual Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. school mixer was held Friday night, September 5, in the social parlors of the Student Exchange Building. Each class was represented by a large number of students and several members of the faculty were present.

Social tension was well broken with two reception lines, followed by some lively games of "Zip-Zap." All doubt as to the name of every student present was effectively removed. Throughout the evening various stunts were performed; a balloon-smashing contest of intense action; location of the pig's eye while blindfolded; a peanut race a la mirrors, one of the victors being Miss Lumley, who has consented to give private lessons in the art, providing the peanuts are provided.

Frosh Win Contest.

Music was furnished by the famous Discard Chorus. Comments after this selection indicated that "dis chord" was one of those few which were lost centuries ago and should have remained in that state.

Freshmen received their first encounter with upper classmen in an object-passing game, and won due to natural ability in such youthful pastimes.

The supreme test of the evening came with the announcement that before refreshments would be served, each man must avail himself of two women. Eskimo pies were distributed immediately.

After some hearty college songs led by the indispensable Mr. Thompson, the guests departed.

Commission Stages Mixer.

A barrage of stunts and games inaugurated the opening of the social season at the Get-together Party sponsored by the Student Commission on September 2. Two hundred and fifty freshmen and upper classmen spent an evening of fun and frolic making new acquaintances and renewing old friendships.

Following the games a Song Fest was staged, the chief number of which was a solo by the Faculty (Mr. Archer). Refreshments were followed by an hour of dancing. Some refreshments were left over but a few chivalrous young men accommodatingly emptied the larder between dances.

LIBRARY GROWS OVER VACATION

The M. S. T. C. library has under-gone several changes during the summer months. A great improvement took place when the reference books were separated from the reserved books. The west end of the library now contains only the reference books. Several new wall cases have been added to this section to take care of the many new books coming in. In the east end of the library are the reserved books and textbooks. By placing the reserved books and text-books in the east end, the librarians left the west end free for reference work. The arrangement greatly im-proves the appearance of the library.

The student assistants who are em-ployed in this department are: Grace Mostue, Lillian Sorenson, Juniors; Florence Powell, Dorothy Dunne, Ger-trude Peterson, and Norma Durkee, Sophomores.

The magazine section and news-paper rack have been placed by the alcove where they are convenient. The contribution of unbound maga-zines by the Moorhead public library will be bound eventually and added to the collection of bound magazines, which is rapidly growing.

As the library grows the card cata-log grows also. New sections have been added to the filing cabinet to take care of the added books. The entire library is cataloged by author, title, and subject.

Before the fire one of the very im-portant and attractive sections of the library was the exhibition in collec-tion of juvenile books. Book publish-ers have been very generous with contributions toward the rebuilding of this collection. One hundred twenty gift copies of beautifully illustrat-ed children's books have been re-ceived which represent the very finest work being done in the making of books for children.

A list of the new reference books will be published in this and succeed-ing issues of The MISTIC.

FACULTY RETURN FROM VACATIONS

MANY USE SUMMER FOR STUDY AND TRAVEL; TWO NEW MEMBERS ADDED

Returning students found very little change in the personnel of the faculty when they resumed their studies this fall. Mr. White and Miss Maland were gone; Mr. Kise and Miss Bieri were back again from their studies. Mr. Parsons and Miss Marie Sorkness had joined the staff and the remainder of the faculty were in their accustomed places; some having taught during the summer school, and others just returned from their vacations.

Mr. White will be an instructor at the Junior College, Burlington, Iowa, this year, while the other member of the faculty who left, Miss Rhoda Maland, was married recently to Mr. Arthur Pearson of Madison, Minn., and will make her home there.

The two returning instructors, Mr. Kise and Miss Bieri, both spent last year studying. Mr. Kise returned from Harvard with another year's graduate work, and Miss Bieri received her Master's degree from Columbia. A number of the instructors spent the summer in studying at different universities; Miss Williams and Miss Heston at Chicago university, Mr. Weltzin at the University of Iowa, and Mr. Sande and Miss Hawkins at the University of Minnesota.

Two Visit Europe.

Miss Fitzmaurice also spent the summer studying, but her studies at the Sorbonne, University of Paris, carried her much farther afield than studies usually do.

Miss McCarten spent a very interesting summer traveling throughout Europe, studying art. She was impressed by the beautiful architecture of France and Italy, which together with the terraced hillsides gave the appearance of a large garden. Passing through the wonderful mountain region of Austria, Switzerland, and Germany on her way to Oberammergau, to view the Passion Play, the grandeur of the scenes impressed her.

"London was a different city than I had pictured it," she said. Instead of a smoky, grimy, foggy industrial city, she found one of the most beautiful and brightest cities of the world. The peaceful, greenland landscape of Ireland with its majestic, heather covered mountains, intriguing old castles, and sparkling little streams winding their way among the flower-covered hillsides in the Killarney Lake region was to Miss McCarten the most sublimely beautiful scene she had seen.

Mr. Schwendeman termed the 5,500-mile Eastern tour which he conducted, combining business with pleasure. With him on this trip were Mr. Christensen, Miss Carlson, and Miss Korsbrek.

Four Teach Elsewhere.

To Dr. Archer this summer's vacation wasn't a vacation, because the time that he didn't spend teaching in the extension course was spent teaching at the University of Minnesota. Miss Wenck also did outside teaching this summer, at Iowa Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Miss Frick spent the summer as an adviser at the summer camp for the Campfire Girls of the Red River Valley Council at Lake Trowbridge, near Vergas, Minn. While there Miss Frick completed manuscript for a book called "Summer Sports," just off the press from the Sergel Publishing Company, Chicago.

Mr. Locke spent the summer teaching in the summer session here, but he found time between terms to attend the June Commencement and receive his Doctor's degree at the University of Chicago.

Outside of his regular teaching at the summer session this year, Mr. Ballard conducted an extension class in Ornithology. The class lived at Pelican Lake and studied bird life as it is to be found in a Minnesota Lake region. Mr. Bridges also spent two and a half weeks at Detroit Lakes, giving an extension course.

Among those who spent the vacation after the summer term at various lakes or on trips out of town were Miss Hayes, Mrs. Goodsell, Mr. Preston, Mr. Murray, Miss Tainter, Miss Lumley, Miss Owens, Miss Bieri, Miss Rainey, Miss Dahl, Miss McKellar, and Mrs. Vowles.

Mr. Ballard was a delegate to the Kiwanis convention in Atlantic City in July; Coach Nemzek took Company F, Moorhead National Guard, to camp at Lake City; and Mr. Preston accompanied the Male Octette to Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada. Mrs. Durboraw and Miss Solem were away on vacations during the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Schwendeman, Mr. and Mrs. Murray, and Miss Korsbrek toured Yellowstone Park.

Eastern Tour Sidelights

(By Johnny Lind)

Wouldn't some of the M. S. T. C. students have snickered to see our Prof. Christensen being politely told to wear a coat with all dignity, before he could enter the dining room at the fashionable Fabyan House in the White Mountains.

"You've got to show me" must have been the motto of one of the party, because she asked the guide to verify the rumor that was afloat among the party—if the Washington Monument really was made of rock salt.

True to Dime Novel fiction, the majority of the party found themselves on a New York subway train, not knowing where they were going. But they were not lost in the Hudson River or the Atlantic—the rescue party was waiting for them at the next station.

Ole and Johnny are firm in the conviction that whenever a woman goes anywhere, she brings everything she owns with her, and maybe borrows some from the neighbors. Eighty pieces of baggage every morning proved to be quite a setting-up exercise.

Our hotel was located on "L" Street in Washington, D. C., and at one time I heard one of our superiors state that it was a "L" of a place to find.

Ordinarily, you do not find women that are willing to walk, but surprising to say, these 41 women were more than willing to walk—when the bus, weighing nine tons empty, crossed bridges limited to one or two tons.

Last, but not least among the chuckles on the trip was the inquiry of one fair one wanting to know why Ole never changed shirts. I do hope that someone told her that they were uniform shirts and that Ole had one dozen of them with him.

There are a multitude more of incidents, but the editor and adviser have already warned me of a strict censure of this article, so I am having the rest of them published in Whizz Bang.

urd Simpson, Rosholt, S. D.; Pat Hewitt, Chokio; Walter Schulz, Washburn, N. D., and Frank Sherack, Crookston. Irvin Mickelson is another reserve who will enter school next week.

Freshman material that is causing "Sliv" no little satisfaction includes Rutz and Marty Christianson, Moorhead; Clarence McAllister, Park Rapids; George Anderson, Moorhead; Jim Krajeck, Wheaton; Alex Kimm, Moorhead; Reynald Christensen, Sleepy Eye; Marshall Lien, Gardner, N. D.; Wilbur Bailey, Erskine; George Robinson, Manhattan, Mont.; Tom Eininger, Detroit Lakes; Jimmy Blaine, Frazee.

Shift a Possibility.

There is a possibility of using Rutz Christianson at quarterback under Coach Nemzek's system of the quarterback acting as blocking back. Christianson made a good showing at Moorhead High School two years ago. The line will be braced by George Anderson, behemoth center from Moorhead. "Fat" has an altitude of six feet and two inches and makes the scales roll around to the 220-pound mark whenever he steps on them.

Coach Nemzek stated that the grid candidates are working out in the right mood and the spirit is fine, although the dressing-room is cramped and lockers are inadequate in number. He also made the plea for a Physical Education building which will remedy these conditions in the near future.

The field has been watered all summer and the turf is in good shape for the first home game, which is with the Valley City Teachers College "Vikings" on October 4.

The Dragons Abroad

The 1930 Moorhead State Teachers College Eastern Tour

(Editor's Note:—Each summer several educational tours are sponsored by the College. These enable one to see the country at a reasonable rate and at the same time receive credit. Below is the first part of the story of the 5,500-mile tour of the East this summer.)

PART I.

In relating my narrative of the M. S. T. C. Eastern Tour I wish to introduce a nomenclature associated with our new name, Dragons, for family use with the possibility of increasing its application. The following is a definition of terms:

Dragons — Everyone connected with the M. S. T. C.

Unfortunates — All without the pale.

Arch-Dragon — M. S. T. C. faculty member.

Super-Dragon — M. S. T. C. student official.

Dragon's Lair — Any abode temporary or permanent of the Dragons.

Dragonaire — Any large carrier engaged in transport of a Dragon or Dragons.

Dragonette — Any small vehicle carrying Dragons.

At 1:00 p. m. Friday, July 25, forty-five Dragons seated themselves comfortably in a thirty-three passenger new Greyhound bus (Coast to Coast) of the Northland Lines, the "Dragonaire", and two new Dragonettes, a Studebaker driven by Arch-Dragon Christensen, and a Chevrolet driven by Arch-Dragon Schwendeman. With cheering farewells, the deep rumbling of the Dragonaire motor, and the assuring purr of the two Dragonettes, the Dragons began their 5,500-mile tour resolved that the Dragon colors should blaze resolutely and happily over every mile of the way.

It was hot that first afternoon, 100 in the shade, and that evening at Elk River a heavy thunder shower kept the Dragons in the Dragonaire for picnic lunch. Hot coffee was procured at the cost of a drenching and tasted considerably of rain water.

A comfortable night at the Curtis Hotel renewed our enthusiasm, and nothing daunted by blazing sun and continued high temperature we sallied forth and with one encircling swoop saw the St. Anthony Falls, and associated mills, the sandstone gorge of the Mississippi, Minnehaha Falls, the Ford bridge and plant, and the state capitol. Continuing south on No. 3 the shimmering expanse of Lake Pepin looked cool and enticing and the verdant Winona Hills cast delightful shadows over the highway. The sandstone escarpments of Wisconsin were mounted easily with the Dragons busily noting the changing landscape panorama from wilderness to areas heavily laden with bountiful crops.

The management at Pine Glen Hotel on the Dells of the Wisconsin river had reserved a yacht for the Dragons, and shortly we were on our way up the river to the Indian Powwow. Sheer columns and walls of sandstone rose grotesquely from the dark depth of the river and were silhouetted against a canopy of stars. The cool breeze and spray wafted aft from the speeding yacht were gratefully refreshing. The alert eyes of Dragon Schwendeman found no obvious response to this romantic setting excepting that he and Dragon Christensen were aware of a small hand clasp firmly about the ankle of each. This was because they had seated themselves on the outboard of the extreme stern of the boat to enjoy the spray and the breeze and their respective wives feared they would prove poor sailors and fall overboard.

In a huge, natural amphitheatre carved in sandrock and adorned with stately pine and gnarled oak trees, renowned Indian artists enacted never-to-be-forgotten scenes. From obscure niches lights played to the mood of the scene from the wierd and gloomy to the gay and hilarious, or made conspicuous the lone actor. Notes from a secluded piano contrasted strangely and tended to emphasize the wild beauty of the setting. The tiered audience were in perfect accord with the mood of each feature, responding with thunderous applause or awed silence. Outstanding presentations were the rites of the Navajo Indians in appealing to the Great Spirit for rain, a spirited reading by an Indian boy representing an appeal of a chieftain to his followers to arise against the intruding white man, wild animal mimicry—the mournful call of a lone timber wolf which proved startlingly realistic and still re-echoes in the dreams of the Dragon wayfarers, the appealing songs of "Silver-tongue", concluding with The Star Spangled Banner while an immense illuminated flag was slowly lowered over a lofty precipice.

In like manner the Dells were visited again the next morning, the Dragons exploring secluded nooks, fantastic rock forms, and entering deep, narrow canyons where partly obscured torrents of water swirled in symmetrical potholes and in which dank and clammy recesses the sun never shone and the temperature on this third hot day was 54 F.

We lunched at Madison and enjoyed the art of the state capitol building, following which the Dragonaire roared defiantly toward Chicago, the first of our very large cities, hurling challenging blasts into the thickening stream of unfortunate motorists. The startling blare of the Dragonaire's siren operated by the effective hand of Dragon Ole (Driver) never failed of its effect on the astonished unfortunate driver. The two Dragonettes with the daring of inexperience led the way, but failing to properly impress the crowding line of unfortunate cars mostly confined their gambols and antics to the space immediately following the rear of the Dragonaire in all similar subsequent situations. The traffic line as we neared Chicago proved one of the trying experiences of the trip. Sunday traffic in large urban centers need be rightfully dreaded.

Tired bodies and shattered nerves were mended by a refreshing sleep in a palatial lair in Evanston.

members. Chet Gilpin, acting Athletic Committee chairman, then told what he knew of the Pep Squad, "M" Club, and the W. A. L., and to close the program Oscar Thompson, in behalf of the Music Commission reviewed the Band, Choir, Glee Club, Radio Girls, Octette, Chorus, and Orchestra.

The singing of school songs led by Oscar Thompson dismissed the assembly.

Students Welcomed.

At the first general assembly on Friday, September 5, President MacLean extended a welcome to the students. Rev. O. G. Berg, president of the Moorhead Ministerial Association, in behalf of the several churches of Moorhead, spoke to the students, inviting them to attend the local churches.

Announcements were made concerning the school year by the members of the faculty and students. Mr. Preston entertained with several solos.

Freshmen Oriented.

Tuesday, September 2, at 9 a. m., the Freshman students assembled in the chapel where they were acquainted with some of the customs of the school and the arrangements of the class rooms. They completed their work with taking the required guidance tests.

IT BELONGS TO YOU

Two years ago last February the College Band was organized under the direction of the present leader. There were fourteen members in the first band. The two outstanding reasons for the organization of the Band were to arouse college spirit at athletic contests and to give added opportunities to people interested in the field of music. Since its beginning it has made steady growth and has taken an important position among the various activities on the campus. The Band, however, is still young and struggling. Prospects for a bigger and better organization this year are promising, but there is room for more musicians and instruments. Although at present the membership is no larger than that of last year, the instrumentation is better balanced.

During the school year the organization plays several concerts both on and off the campus. It also broadcasts about once a month over WDAY, Fargo. An excellent supply of good music was received during the summer. This should serve to interest both the players and their audiences. As soon as a repertoire of marches is worked up, the drum major, Reuben Parson, will start drilling the Band for marching in preparation for the many interesting forthcoming events.

This is your Band, BOOST FOR IT! Perhaps you yourself can play an instrument. Come over and join the Band! If you do not own an instrument, see the director. Perhaps he can help you get one.

The following is the personnel of the band for this year:

Drum major, Reuben Parson; cornets: Oscar Thompson, Reynald Christensen, Walter Cocking, Clarence Gludt, and Doris Jorgenson; clarinets: Robert Walls, Jordyce Roholt, Donald Ingram, Maxine Brown, Ruth Narveson, Kathryn Feyereisen; horns: Margaret Stinson, Elizabeth Bestick, Audre Dyer, and Reuben Parson.

Baritone: Arthur Skjonsby; trombones: Margaret Deutschman, Lynn Townsend, and Lyleth Brohaugh; basses: Moris Fritz, Clayton Skjonsby, and Richard Lowry; percussion: Lyman Davis, Paul Rosel, and Ray Simonitsch; saxophone: Frances Lehman.
