The Daily Shirker

Communist censored, written and inspired on campus each Campanile Day (May 1).

Year 1 — Issue I

May 1, 1959, the year of The Glorious Revolution.

Our glorious Queen of the May, Comrade Rodita Wigerchev, poses coyly for the Daily Shirker camera. Chosen on the basis of having exceeded her production quota, Comrade Wigerchev is an example of sterling, sturdy Soviet flesh.

Quantity, not quality say Comrade artists

Comrades Johnsonovski and Strattonvich of the MSC art department have announced to The Daily Shirker that only art exploiting the pleasures of collective living shall heretofore be accepted for grading in that department.

Such themes as love, material splendor, and happiness through freedom shall now be defunct. Instead, only art which depicts husky, well-muscled women and men gloriously living the good life in going over their production quotas will be acceptable.

Ceramic jugs and vases shall not be considered worthwhile unless they be of a Communistic nature, i.e., they shall be functional, sturdy, and of a size large enough to hold the goods of the whole commune.

Papier mache shall be constructed in the shape of glorious reproductions of Comrade Khrushchev and all busts of Stalin shall be destroyed. Quotas shall be destroyed. Quotas shall be rigidly enforced.

To quote comrades Johnsonovski and Strattonvich: "Quantity, not quality, is what we ask in this class."

Life is just a bowl of H bombs.

Beat News...

● ● ● Comrade Vangie Lindquist announced this morning that food poisoning cases have dropped from 1000 to 100 during the last week. Upon receiving the news comrade students allowed Yankee Raymondevski to come down from his post atop the Party's flagpole in front of MacLeanovich hall at noon today. We was last seen headed toward Sharelovich's ducking honorable red tomatoes on the way.

● ● ● The Owlovitch cell will hold noon meetings this week to further their "man making" cause. One of their "men" inductees may be observed hanging in MacLeanovich hall from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Comrade students are asked to report to Father Owlovitch when comrade inductee's thumbs turn blue again.

● ● ● The ASA (Atheist's Student Association of the People's College of Moorhead) are planning nightly vodka-busts at the Lost Volga for members of their cell. Admission charge is 50 rubles and all proceeds will go to the People's committee for the advancement of atheists abroad.

● ● ● "Want a job? Find it yourself." This is the new motto of the People's displacement office. They report numerous (102) junior high school positions, i.e. teaching, advising and tiddely wink coaching, are available at such interesting centers of populationas West St. Gacklesburg, No Democracy.

Laschkovich outlines five year budget plan

Comrade Laschkovich, fresh from an extensive training course in the Kremlin, today outlined the new five year budget plan to the Student Politburo.

Ninety-nine percent of all the available money will go to the athletic department. The remaining one percent of the money controlled by the Politburo will be divided equally among all other departments.

There is a possibility that band and choir members may have to compose and print their own music next year. However, if they stick close to the Party line in writing lyrics, Comrade Laschkovich says he may give them the opportunity to perform in the new fieldhouse during the half-time of one temporarily given up a hot war in favor of an athletic offensive, it is imperative that we not only have the of the duller basketball games.

Commenting on the athletic increase, Laschkovich said, "If we are going to beat the capitalistic, war-mongering Fish, we absolutely need the money. Since the Kremlin has most well fed team in our conference, but that we also triumph in the forthcoming Olympic Games."

People's College of Moorhead athletic teams will next year maintain a permanent training table at the Skolovski Room of the FM People's Hotel. This program is being put into effect so the boys won't waste valuable energy walking across the street to Rudolphchev's for their appetizers. A jet airliner will be purchased to whisk the teams back and forth from triumphant victories over the unenlightened.

When a slight murmur of protest arose at the Politburo meeting over granting so much money to one department, Politburo leader Ericksonova said, "What can we do? The orders came direct from the Kremlin!"

What! Me revolt?

On this the anniversary of the bloodless Campanile Revolt, The Daily Shirker proposes an alternative to the dishonored Campanile: Shown above is a monument to the glorious Suitcase Student. To stand in the center of the Red Circle, the Suitcase monument will be erected at a cost of only 15,000 rubles.

5 year work as you take snap course plan

In line with Commissar Neumaier's new "work while you take snap courses" plan, the curriculum committee of the People's College, John Jenkinsonovski, chairman, has announced its offerings for the next academic year.

In its constant effort to serve the student body and help to facilitate registration and planning of proper sequence of courses, The Daily Shirker in conjunction with the Green Gander of Iowa State College has consented to print the following supplement to the new bulletin.

Fig. 101-Flunking Out; Methods and Procedures. This course has been added by the People's College as an istic atmosphere. Topics covered in answer to using enrollment figures. Included are: "Let's go golfing," "Extracurriculars can be fun," and "Study can cause cancer."

Fun. 234-Riots, and the Instigation Thereof. This course will be limited to a few large sections, and will not meet regularly. Bonfires and street singing provide a wholesome social-clude: "Successful fire building," "How to be a leader," "Elements of hand-to-hand combat," and "What to do till the bail comes through."

PWCTU. 21-Alcoholics Unanimous. Discussions are held nightly at the Las Volga, Rudolphchev's and the Skolovski Room. Topics are: "The eighteenth amendment and why it was repealed," "Why pick a pair of six packs," and "Enforcement is evil."

Other changes which will be forthcoming include altering Humanities to Geography of Siberia. Social Studies will henceforth be known as Socialistic Studies. Personal Growth will become Growth of the State, and freshman English courses will convert to Russian 110, 111, and 112. Any Russian Lit courses will naturally exclude works of Gidmarkovich and Pasternak.

Comrade Hansonevski, under cover agent for the People's College Secret Police, has been endangering his life for the good of the Party for the past several weeks while posing as director of the counter-revolutionary orgie. He is now acting as chief prosecutor for the purge trial.

Hansonevski's case is built around the fact that no mad woman could possibly exist in the Workers' Paradise. As this edition went to press, ex-Comrade Nikita Johnsonovski was heard tearfully shrieking, "But it's my first offense, and besides... I'll miss the Gamovich cell's lake trip."

Pleading innocence to the bitter end, the play's star, poster designer, and chief usher gave her finest performance to date while on the stand. K. C. Rosengrevanovich was given a choice of being shot at sunup or of being shipped to the salt mines at St. Hermansburg.

Plans for the execution are proceeding according to plan.

New advisor to the nuppet Politburo is Comrade Lolita Brunzmanlova. Comrade B., to coin a phrase, is putty in the hands of the Kremlin.

Under the direction of Comrade Laschkovitch, glorious athletes of the Regeme labor relentlessly in the People's College distillery. The distillery provides income for training table consumption.

Stalin prize award winner Satanova indoctrinates all

Jocelyn Gidmarkovich and Boris Pasternak have been denounced by Party members for writing subversive literature. Ex-comrade Gidmarkovich's recent essay on "What the Freedom Shrine Means to Me" was banned in Boston and is included on the Party's black list. Both authors are expected to disappear shortly.

On the brighter side of the literary fence at the People's College is the announcement of the annual Stalin Prize to Joe Satanovna for his Ideas in Contest. This book, with excerpts lifted from the best Communist teachings, was singled out as the top indoctrination text ever produced for colleges in the Workers' Paradise.

First prize consists of three million rubles, an all-expense paid trip to Formosa, and two free tickets to the Fine Arts series starring the Don Cosacks.

Given honorable mention as works which contributed much to the Revolution were the "Dragon" and the "Style Sheet for Written Assignments." These two works are being circulated widely throughout all of the Glorious Empire and are expected to take their place alongside the sacred writings of Marx, Lenin, and Stalin in the People's Literary Hall of Fame.

Official presentation of these achievement awards will be made on Honors Day, May 6, 1959. An official from the Kremlin will assist Comrade Soc Clasrudovich, head of the Russian literature department, in the stirring awards ceremony. Other Party members who have distinguished themselves in the scholarly study of the structure of the Communistic state will also be honored at that time.

WANTED for crimes against the state

Meet Comrade Kubla Siegla, new advisor to The Daily Shirker, who says: "A democratic newspaper so long as I determine democracy!" Faithful Party worker Siegla hails from South Siberia.

Letter to the editor

To the editor

What we need around this school is a symbol of unity! All the big eastern colleges have them and if we don't build one soon, the Fish will beat us to it. This is no fly-by-night scheme, either. I propose that we start an expensive fund raising campaign immediately to give our campus that symbol of belongingness that we all yearn for - let's build a campanile!!! (That's a bell tower to the masses.)

Now that Alaska is a part of the Union, I'll bet we could make a good deal on a used igloo for housing the mechanism and the Early Ice Age architecture would bolster all our egos. Wouldn't it be delightful to have the strains of well known little ditties filling the campus day and night. We could even have an all-request show during test week to pacify everyone.

So jump on the band wagon if you truly love your Alma Mater. Send your contributions to the "Bell Tower or Bust Fund," Box 1500, MSC.

With relish,
A Freshman
