Pianist, 'Hamlet' to appear this weekend

Concert to be tomorrow

Jacques Klein, young Brazilian pianist scheduled to appear in recital Saturday night, Jan. 20, was forced to cancel his North American tour because of news that his mother was dying.

Scheduled to appear in place of Klein is Theodore Lettvin, American-born pianist, considered by many music critics one of the few outstanding young keyboard artists of our time. The time for his recital will be the same as that announced for Klein, 8:15 p.m., Jan. 20, in Weld Auditorium.

Born in Chicago, Theodore Lettvin grew up surrounded by music. His mother, a piano teacher, started him playing at the age of four. His sister also played the piano, and one of his brothers played the violin while the other became proficient on the bassoon. Although none of the others followed music as a vocation, the Lettvin household is full of chamber music whenever two or more of the brothers and sisters get together.

In Chicago, Lettvin studied the piano with Leon Rosenblum and Howard Wells, making such progress that he was ready for his orchestral bow at the age of twelve, when he played with the Chicago Symphony under the baton of the late Frederick Stock.

At the age of fifteen, young Lettvin won a scholarship to the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia where he studied for the next seven years with two world-renowned artists, Horszowski, (who appeared last year at MSC) and Rudolf Serkin. His career was interrupted for service with the United States Navy during World War II.

The young Chicagoan has since been the recipient of many national awards, among them the Naumberg and Michaels Memorial awards. During the 1950-1951 season, Mr. Lettvin became the apprentice conductor of the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra, under Mr. Steinberg's baton, both in Buffalo and in Pittsburgh, whose orchestra Steinberg subsequently took over.

In recent seasons, Mr. Lettvin has also been heard as soloist with other leading orchestras throughout the country, including the Cleveland Orchestra, where a performance last season under George Szell caused the Cleveland Plain Dealer to write, "A cleaner, more refined presentation of this lordly work (Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 3) has seldom been heard . . . Mr. Lettvin allowed the piano to sing simply and naturally, with beauty of tone and nuance."

When Mr. Lettvin was recently heard with the New Orleans Philharmonic, the States and Item hailed him as "One of tomorrow's giants of the piano . . . He had everything . . . Just breathtakingly impressive playing from start to finish."

This kind of praise is no news in Mr. Lettvin's career. Whether he plays with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Chicago Symphony, Washington D. C.'s National Symphony, in Baltimore or in Cincinnati, he consistently receives rave reviews - as he also does when he plays at such summer festivals as Grant Park, the Ravinia Festival and Chautauqua.

As a recitalist, Mr. Lettvin was placed "Among the front rank of American pianists" by Mr. Harold Schonberg of The New York Times following his Town Hall recital last year, and this past winter, the Washington Star's distinguished critic Day Thorpe called him "A sensation—one of our three or four great pianists."

In recent seasons, Lettvin has traveled and played extensively through the United States and Europe, including trips behind the Iron Curtain to Yugoslavia, and also in the various musical centers of Europe. Among these latter recitals was a return visit to Brussels, where in 1952 he won international honor as a winner of the famed Wueen Elizabeth of Belgium Piano Competition, and where he was one of only five Americans to play at the Brussels World's Fair.

While abroad, Mr. Lettvin also took time from his whirlwind tour to cut his first European recording for the distinguished HMV label. The record couples two Beethoven Rondos.

During the current season Mr. Lettvin has another Town Hall recital scheduled in New York in addition to dates in Washington, D.C., an appearance with the Pittsburgh Symphony in addition to recital appearances throughout the country.

Historian, anthropologist to speak here this week

U of M's Deutsch to talk on World War II

Dr. Harold C. Deutsch, professor of history at the University of Minnesota, will speak at a convocation Tuesday Jan. 23 at 11 a.m., in Weld Auditorium. His subject will be "Democracy vs. Dictatorship - American and Germany in World War II."

Dr. Deutsch received master's degrees from the universities of Wisconsin and Harvard and his Ph.D from Harvard in 1929. He also studied at the universities of Paris, Vienna and Berlin.

Since coming to the University of Minnesota in 1929 Professor Deutsch has concentrated mainly on twentieth century Europe and the two World Wars. He is currently chairman of the department of history and also of the program in international relations and area studies.

Since 1928 Dr. Deutsch has spent about six years in Europe on various research activities, including interviewing surviving leaders of both World Wars and study of local governments under the Nazi regime.

Between 1942 and 1945 Dr. Deutsch was chief of European Axis Section, Board of Economic Warfare, with the office of Strategic Services. He also directed political research and analysis on Europe, Africa and the near East in 1943-4.

A few of Dr. Deutsch's publications include Genesis of Napoleonic Imperialism, (1938); Chapter on Germany in Directorship in The Modern World. (G. S. Ford, ed., 1939); Present and Future U. S. Policy on Germany (1956); Our German Problems (1956); and America's Stake in Western Europe (1959).

Since last December Dr. Deutsch has had a weekly TV program of world affairs analysis on Station WTCN in Minneapolis.

Royal dancers begin practice

by Rosemary Medin

An angel glides majestically across the stage. Uncle Thomas pops his head through the doorway of a small imaginary house held up by two boys.

Rehearsal on the Ballet, Act II, Scene 3, of "The King and I" has begun.

The Ballet, an amusing Siamese version of Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin, is one of the main dances that the royal dancers have been working on for the past two weeks. A procession to celebrate the discovery of a holy white elephant is another principal dance.

The King's royal dancers now practice from fifteen to twenty hours a week. Sore muscles may bother them now, but blisters may feel worse when they take off their shoes to dance Siamese style.

The dancers are Judy Lindell, Pat Brady, Kathy Mosleth, Sue Eissinger, Patricia Ward, Liane Moe, Roxanne Boyum, Karen Roise, Rosemary Medin, Dan Wilhelm, James Ebsen, Jerry Nichols, Gary Radniecki, and Wes Schierman. Most of these people have little training or background in dancing.

Dancing is probably the most creative part of a musical with the possible exception of the artistic work that goes into the sets and backdrops. Little or no choreography is given in the script of "The King and I," a fact that allows the royal dancers to be even more inventive than usual in devising their Oriental movements.

Miss Marilyn Nass, women's dance instructor from NDSU and choreographer for "The King and I," describes the dances of a musical as the "Frosting on the cake."

Red River Valley archeology to be topic of U of M's Johnson

"Prehistoric Archeology of the Red River Valley" will be the topic of Dr. Elden Johnson, associate professor of anthropology at the University of Minnesota, who will lecture at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 25, in the Livingston Lord library. Dr. Johnson will illustrate his lecture with slides.

Professor Johnson will appear in MSC anthropology classes as guest speaker and will discuss careers in anthropology with interested students, who should contact Mr. James Smith, assistant professor of anthropology.

Dr. Johnson is a member of the Society for American Archeology, the Archeological Institute of America, and a Fellow of the American Anthropological Association. He has specialized in Archeology in North America and South and Southeastern Asia. Dr. Johnson has completed field work in Standing Rock, N. Dak. with the Yanktonai tribe of Dakota Sioux; and with the Medwakanton Dakota Sioux of Granite Falls, Minn. Of special interest was his work in prehistoric archeology of the glacial Lake Agassiz basin in the Red River Valley of Minnesota, North Dakota, and Manitoba.

Major publications of Dr. Johnson include:

"Spring Lake Archeology," in the Science Bulletin; "The Teton and Mandan of the Plains," and "The Iroquois and the Northeast." The American Indian is currently in press as is a textbook in introductory anthropology, entitled Human Origins; the Evolution of Man and Culture.

Book Review

'The Fountainhead'

by Gladys Odegaard

THE FOUNTAINHEAD

by Ayn Rand

The Fountainhead is a book which has at least two purposes. It is an excellent piece of novel-writing, and a forerunner of Miss Rand's own special philosophy of life, Objectivism.

The novel itself is a powerful piece of writing about a main character who irrevocably affects the lives of those surrounding him, but remains untouched himself. Howard Roark is an architect who follows none of the rules of architecture as expounded in the school in which he is enrolled. As a result, he is removed from the school. Because of the current popularity of pseudo-Gothic and Renaissance tendencies in the architecture of the time, he is not accepted for long by any of the firms he works for, with the exception of one—a one-man firm headed by Henry Cameron, who once also had a dream of what a building should be, but had not the personal strength of Roark, and so has faded into obscurity.

Cameron, however, recognized the latent genius in Roark's designs and thus Roark becomes a member of this small firm. Soon Roark executes several jobs which win friends for himself and his designs, and after Cameron is forced to retire by illness, he sets up an office of his own.

This is far from an ordinary success story, however. It is an uphill battle all the way, a battle in which Roark is helped or hindered by such people as Dominique Francon, who becomes his mistress in an affair engendered by hate; Elsworth Toohey; Peter Keating, who will not admit, even to himself, the reason why he depends on Roark; Stephen Mallory; Roger Enright; Austen Heller; and Gail Wynand, whose life is perhaps most affected by Roark, and who is perhaps the only person who really affects Roark in return.

As an exponent of Miss Rand's philosophical theory, Objectivism, this book is not as powerful as a later novel, Atlas Shrugged, but it does stand as a forerunner and an early representative of the theory. Objectivism embodies several theories: that whatever exists independent of any perceiver, that man's highest moral purpose is his own happiness, and that man should grant his fellowmen equal rights; that is, he should deal with them as equals in the sense that he claims nothing from them without their consent. These principles were not as clearly defined when The Fountainhead was written, but the beginnings of them are clearly present in the book in the person of the hero. Howard Roark.

There is a distinct question in the minds of many whether Miss Rand is most notable as a philosopher or as a novelist, and there are some who insist she deserves no credit as either. In either case, for those who are interested in a very powerful, excellently written novel, or who would like to look deeper into the theory of Objectivism, I recommend both The Fountainhead and Atlas Shrugged.

Miss Rand also has recently published a summary of Objectivism under the title For the New Intellectual.

Blackfriars bring happiness to Fargo's Children's Village

"An exhausting but enriching experience," say Blackfriar members of their latest venture, that of bringing happiness into the lives of orphans at Children's Village, Fargo.

Since the beginning of fall quarter, Saturday mornings of at least two Blackfriars (members rotate from week to week) have been spent reading stories, playing games, and entertaining children.

"Children whose needs are great require special attention," said Jean Larsen Olson, committee chairman of the project, and added, "It's quite a challenge and very rewarding to work with these youngsters."

Two reasons for the success of the program are Marilyn Heller and Gloria Duart who have done most of the work at the village thus far.

Although the children range in age from 4 to 17, most of the attention to date has been centered on the younger set. "We hope to include the older people in our plans this quarter," Jean said, "and as the demands of the children increase, we'll do our best to meet them."

P. O. Box 47

Abominable Snowman Week 1962, was just that—Abominable. We feel that the main problem arose from the fact that no advance publicity was given to the week.

The dates for this week were set on the social calendar during the early part of fall quarter. Why wasn't any publicity sent out during fall quarter? Perhaps it was felt that people might forget about it over the Christmas break. If that was the reason, then the week should have been scheduled more publicity had been given, there at a different time. We think that if would have been more contestants in both the Abominable Snowman contest and the snow sculpture contest.

We do not feel that the coronation should have been held after the Fine Arts program. Why couldn't it have been held at the dance on Friday night? If it was felt that the king and queen should reign over the entire week, then why couldn't coronation have been held Wednesday morning at 9? There was no convocation scheduled that day and we're sure that there was nothing between 10:30 Tuesday night and 9:00 Wednesday morning that the king and queen could have reigned over.

Three dances were scheduled during the week. At least one of these could have been omitted. The week didn't have to be filled completely from morning to night. Classes are being held and students do have assignments to do.

If this week is to be held again next year, and we feel that it should, a few changes will have to be made. The Social Commissioner has a group designed specifically for Abominable Snowman week—the Sociables. We feel that this group should be used more than they have been.

If it was thought feasible to wait until after Christmas vacation to send out publicity, why couldn't it have been sent out on Wednesday, January 3? It would have given people a few more days to plan their activities. It seems hardly fair to any organization to receive news at nine a.m. that they should have their candidate for Abominable Snowman ready by four p.m.

Snow sculptures were to have been started Saturday, January 6. Two groups braved the below-zero cold to start their sculptures. On Wednesday, January 10, a meeting of the Sociables was called to see if maybe the time for finishing the sculptures should be extended. A few days prior to this, one of the groups who had started theirs during the weekend asked the same thing—they were refused. They finished their sculpture in the cold. On Wednesday when the weather became nicer, other groups decided to start their projects. This is when it was suggested to extend the time limit. The motion was defeated because it was felt by some groups that if two groups of "WEAK" girls could finish theirs in the cold, there was no reason why anyone else could not, especially the "strong" boys. The sculptures were to have been finished by 4 p.m. on Thursday, January 11. Yet, a group was able to work until 4:15. I wonder if this was one of the groups that wanted the time extended? If one group was refused outright when asked if the time could be extended, why was another given a consideration of a meeting to present their case?

We feel that Abominable Snowman Week should become an annual affair, but whoever is in charge of it next year might keep some of these suggestions in mind and make this week an affair that will serve not only as a break in the tedious monotony of winter, but an event that will serve the college in advertising and recruiting new students.

Stereos installed in library

Four new stereophonic sound turntables installed in Livingston Lord library have been available for student and faculty use since January 5. The monaural collection of about 1000 records is open for use but students are invited to bring their own records for stereo listening.

Transistorized, the new equipment is compact and very delicate. The instructions for operating the easy to control equipment are found on the tables. Mr. Bernard Gill, head librarian, stresses that proper use and care will mean long, good service.

Headphone sets for the equipment are signed out to listeners at the main desk. The aviation type earphone is sponge padded to aid comfort.

The records for use on these machines can satisfy most musical tastes as they include classical, modern and a few jazz recordings. In addition to these, readers present plays, stories and poetry. This collection is also available on a three day loan basis with the understanding that records will be handled with care.

Mr. Gill, while making it clear that the librarians will be happy to answer questions about handling records, gives these tips:

1. Do not grab a record flat handed.

New KMSC head, staff

by Dale Loff

The all new KMSC will return to the air waves on Monday, January 22, and will operate daily from 3 p.m. to 12 m. except on Saturday and Sunday. The radio voice of Moorhead State College is under a new management, and most of the staff is new at KMSC.

Pat McDonough, the new station manager, replaces Ted Larson who held this position for three years. Pat, a veteran of radio broadcasting, has worked at KMSC for the past year and a half. He is aided by assistant station manager Dave Bergford; programing director, Bob Boyson, in charge of publicity and promotion; and Daryll Rice, director of projects.

The programing coordinator is Allen Bright, and the coordinator for publicity and promotion is Dale Loff. Bob Becker holds the vital position of chief engineer. The instructor of Radiocraft and advisor for the station is Dr. Allen Erickson. Ted Larson holds the position of administrative consultant.

Several new features will be presented to the students of Moorhead State College for their listening pleasure. KMSC will take part in the Tri-College Network in cooperation with radio stations KDSC (North Dakota State University) and KOB (Concordia College). This participation on the TCN will enable KMSC to present a greater variety of programing to its listening audience.

The Tri-College Network is expected to be in operation very soon.

The reception of KMSC has been improved in Dahl Hall by the installation of new transmitting equipment. Another new feature of KMSC will be a news department which will present world, state, regional, and campus news to the students on campus.

A complete and efficient sports department has been established by Earl Guck. The sports department will present college sports events broadcast live and direct from Nemzek Hall. Modernization and improvement of the present physical plant of KMSC is also being planned.

"Carry On," a regular feature of KMSC, will continue to be presented over radio station KUTT and can be heard every Sunday afternoon from 4 to 4:30. The George Grady show will also continue during the winter quarter. George plays popular music from 6 p.m. to midnight every Saturday evening.

KMSC broadcasts at 650 Kc.

Gamma Nu awarded first place for 'telephone' snow sculpture

by Carolyn Klinnert

The Abominable Snowman Week became almost abominable when last week's cold weather speeded up everyone's jaunts between classes. But in spite of everything the loyalists of Moorhead State were making their snow sculptures on different parts of the campus. The award for the best snow sculpture was given to the Gamma Nu Sorority for their realistic telephone in front of MacLean Hall.

Kappa Nu Alpha's winning entries for the Abominable Snowman contest held last week.

Abominable Snowman Week began with enthusiasm when Moorhead State College won the basketball game played with Bemidji on Monday night.

An informal dance on Wednesday and a formal dance at the Top of the Mart in the F-M Hotel on Friday night were part of the week's entertainment.

On Saturday, scheduled as Snow fun Day, MSCers took advantage of the Minnesota weather by skating, tobogganing, skiing, or making snowmen. The snow that fell on Saturday, making the campus a crispy white, was a perfect ending to 1962's Abominable Snowman Week.

Dragons tip Mayville Comets 61-53

Nagel hits 1,000 mark; Hoopsters win sixth

Moorhead State's Dragons fought back from a 25-21 halftime deficit to trip Mayville State Teachers College 61-53.

It was the sixth victory for the local hoopsters and the fourth in the last six starts.

Jim Nagel, Dragon forward, went into the contest with 987 collegiate points. The senior from Breckenridge not only hit the coveted 1,000 mark, but exceeded that total and led all scorers with 18 points.

Coach Glenn Cafer's cagers hit a cold 8 for 29 in the opening half for 28%. The Comets hit 10 of 24 for 42%.

In garnering 40 second half tallies, the Dragons connected on 14 of 31 for 45% from the field.

Coach Cafer heralded the play of senior center Neil Johnson and pointed out that it was his best night of the cage season. The rugged 6'4" performer hit his seasonal high of 13 points.

Al Shogren was the other Dragon hoopster to hit the double figure column as he notched 12 points.

Doug Eiken led Coach Al Meyer's losers with 17. Doug Halcrow and Gil Heibel hit 11 apiece also for the Comets.

MSC matmen down NDSU 24-8

Jerry Lindell

Dragon heavyweight George Thompson pinned Art Loyland in 58 seconds of the first period to climax Moorhead's fourth dual meet win of the season, 24-8 over NDSU.

The biggest surprise of the short season came, however, in the 177 pound division as the Dragon's highly touted Ed Arneson was pinned by Gerald Gamrath in 32 seconds. Gamrath maneuvered a quick takedown and applied an immediate pinning combination that Arneson was unable to shake.

Banks Swan, MSC 123 pounder, didn't waste any time either as he opened the meet with a 1:51 pin over Gary Nord. Wrestling in the 167 pound class in place of injured Bill Cronen, Al Westrude man-handled the Bison's Glenn Jeglum before putting him on his back in 5:58.

Mike Bewley (MSC) and Frank Johnson, 157 pounders, wrestled the full nine minutes executing a series of moves that left some 300 spectators confused but, for the most part, happy. Bewley won the match 14-10.

One-forty-seven pound Don Pate fought an aggressive match to overwhelm NDSU's Jerry Hill 7-0. Moorhead's 130 pound Buck Maughan, cockily confident of his ability, eased past Ron Hanson 9-3, and John Rotella (MSC) was defeated by Gary Yost 9-1 in the 137 pound division.

Next week the Dragons travel to Valley City for a dual meet Wednesday, and Saturday will wrestle at Michigan Tech.

- 123-Swan (MSC) pinned Nord, 1:51.
- 130-Maughan (MSC) decisioned Hanson, 9-3.
- 137-Yost (NDSU) decisioned Rotella, 9-1.
- 147-Pate (MSC) decisioned Hill, 7-0.
- 157-Bewley (MSC) decisioned Johnson, 14-10.
- 167-Westrude (MSC) pinned Jeglum, 5:54.
- 177-Gamrath (NDSU) pinned Arneson, :32.

Bill Cronen, Dragon 167 pounder puts a near pin on "Gustie" Stan Kittelson. The former Benson High School standout help pave the way to the shutout victory over Gustavus Adolphus as he decisioned his opponent 11-0.

Dragons blank Gustavus 27-0

by Jerry Lindell

Dragon matmen shut-out Gustavus Adolphus 27-0 Friday for their third dual meet victory of the season. Nine matches went the full nine minutes each as the Gusties refused to be pinned.

One - twenty - three pound Banks Swan opened the meet by beating Kenmore Johnson, 8-0. Bucky Maughan, Moorhead's cocky 130 pounder, won over Harlan Hanson, 8-3, and Mike Sponberg was defeated 7-0 by smoothmoving John Rotella (137 pounds).

In the 147 pound class, Don Pate maneuvered a third period takedown to defeat Ken Wilson, 5-4. Mike Bewley, 157 pounder, made his debut as a Dragon with a 10-3 win over Bob Anderson.

Bill Cronen, Moorhead 167-pounder wrestling his first match after a year's layoff, came closest to gaining a pin as he scored two near-falls to blank Stan Kittelson, 11-0. Wrestling as his name implies, 177 pound "Easy" Ed Arneson decisioned Gary Rettke, 7-2.

Dragon 191 pounder, Don Conn, one of the best competitors on the squad, decisioned Al Pierson, 4-0. Tired but game, George Thompson outlasted John Osmundson, 7-4.

Larson's Sports Scope

by Larry Larson

Doug Urness, the talented Mahonmen football griddler, has dropped out of school at Indiana University.

Michigan Tech's Jerry Sullivan is the present scoring leader in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association. Coach John MacInnes states that Sullivan is a steady, hard working fore-checker. The Huskie captain has 20 points on 12 goals and eight assists for his third place club. Michigan leads the WCHA standing at 13-1.

Ohio State University has rolled to 12 straight victories without a setback and tops the leading colleges in the nation. Jerry Lucas and company invade Williams Arena tomorrow when they will face John Kundla's Gophers.

Jim Nagel has scored 265 points in 13 games thus far this season. He leads the Dragon cage machine with a 20.3 average points per game. Congratulations also go out to Nagel as the senior forward raised his four year career total over the 1,000 point mark. Jim broke the coveted mark by scoring 18 against Mayville Tuesday night.

Jerry Pellitier, Gopher quarterback, has decided to pass up his winter quarter schooling at the University. The sophomore from Bloomington will be back spring quarter, however.

Coach Glenn Cafer's basketballers have scored 764 points in 13 games thus far this season for a 57.3 per game scoring output. Their opponents have totaled but seven more for a 59.3 average per game. The Dragons currently have a 6-7 record.

Coach Bill Garland's grapplers have outscored their defenders 120 to 36. The Dragon matmen have a fine 4-1 record and need more cheering support from students. Let's get out and back this fine contingent.

Next year's football captain elect, Ron J. Johnson, has been selected to the second team on Scholastic All-American. Bob Quam, senior full-back, receive honorable mention recognition.

Jerry Buckanaga and John Carney will compete in the golden glove boxing tournament held at Wahpeton, N. D., on February 5 and 6. Buckanaga is a Park Rapids grad and will fight in the middleweight division. Carney is a stubborn lightweight from Moorhead.
